BIG HEALTH EXHIBIT IS IN FULL SWING

Lowell's big health exhibit opened at 11 o'clock today and while the weather was decidedly unpromising the places were well patronized even before the exhibits were in position. The Lowell anti-tuberculosis council, with the co-operation of the state anti-tuberculosis association and several local institutions including the board of trade, the Middlesex Women's club, the Lowell guild and the Lowell social service league has determined to give a practical illustration of the right way and the wrong way to live. The exhibit will continue until 10 p.m. every day for the remainder of the week and the people of Lowell and vicinity are to be given a demonstration by means of the most complete exhibit ever staged here of the modern roads to health, the better methods of conservation of healthful conditions at home or in the stores and shops and, besides the exhibits there will be numerous lectures by experts.

The places occupied by the exhibit includes the fourth floor of the Chalfoux building at Central and Merrimack streets, the vacant store at Merrimack and John streets, and in Middlesex hall in Palmer street. Most of the material to be used in the exhibit is furnished by the state but the demonstrations will be given by local workers and nurses of the Lowell guild.

The fourth floor of the Chalfoux building has been transformed into a hospital room furnished by the Lowell General Hospital. Lowell Guild nurses are showing the proper care of children during sickness. The Massachusetts Anti-Tuberculosis association has installed on this floor a complete exhibit of an open-air school room, demonstrating its value in being conducive to good health.

The store at John and Merrimack streets contains some very interesting exhibits. Near the Merrimack street door there is a health exhibit, showing the conditions that make for tuberculosis and against it. The walls are placarded with pictures and warnings and one reads that in order to avoid consumption one must avoid alcoholic drinks and patent medicines. Besides a big card advising that in order to keep healthy one should sleep in the open air is still a larger card contributed by the committee on waterways and displaying the fact that 1000 children have lost their lives in the waterways of Lowell. Just where this card fits in a tuberculosis exhibit is more than the casual observer can determine, but one must be satisfied with the explanation that there is no limit to the energy and resourcefulness of the committee on waterways.

The Welfare exhibit by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company is very interesting. Next to the tuberculosis exhibit is sent from New York and includes tall towers with beacon lights. The company is also distributing some very fine and useful literature such as "The Baby and You," and "First Aid in the Home." Even doctors who picked up some of the literature declared it was well worth the reading.

There is also a state exhibit of child welfare, embracing the care of babies and the methods of keeping milk cool. This particular exhibit is in charge of Miss May B. Dickinson, field supervisor of the department of hygiene. Miss Dickinson demonstrates with a doll which she refers to, lovingly, as "Liz-zie." Miss Dickinson will give a series of lectures during the week, and she is also passing out the following health creed:

"I will keep my body clean within and without; I will breathe pure air and I will live in the sunlight; I will do no act that might endanger the health of others; I will try to learn and practice the rules of healthy living; I will work and rest and play at the right time and in the right way, so that my mind will be strong and my body healthy, and so that I will lead a useful life and be an honor to my parents, to my friends and to my country."

Miss Clara E. Holland of the Lowell Guild is in charge of the demonstrations in the store in Merrimack and John streets. There is a great deal of useful information to be had at the store in question, and he who enters may spend a profitable 15 or 20 minutes there. Besides the child welfare and other there are pictures showing good and bad conditions in shops, good and bad lunch rooms, dusty industries, factory hospitals, factory nurses and other interesting studies.

Middlesex hall in Palmer street, which will house a portion of the exhibit, will not be available for use until tomorrow and then it will be occupied by representatives of the Young Men's Christian association, who will demonstrate first aid work, and by Boy Scouts, who will give practical ideas of interest.

Lowell Board of Health

The Lowell board of health is compiling statistics of conditions in Lowell, which when completed, will be transferred to cards and these will be hung in conspicuous places. There is also being made a map which will show locations in the city where two deaths from tuberculosis have occurred in the same house during the past ten years. The purpose of this map is to show the relation which the condition of houses bear to tuberculosis and its re-occurrence. In conjunction with the health exhibit it is planned to have lectures given in Greek, Polish and Lithuanian by parties speaking the language of the respective peoples. The lectures to be given by experts will form one of the features of the entire exhibit. The subjects to be presented are pertinent to the purpose of the crusade and will be given by men competent to talk on health. The lecture subjects, lectures and the time and places where the talks will be given are as follows:

This evening, Colonial hall, Mayor James E. O'Donnell and Prof. Green of the state health department; Thursday, 8 p.m., Middlesex hall, Dr. C. E. Simpson on "Insects and Diseases"; Friday, 8 p.m., Middlesex hall, Dr. Marshall L. Allen on "Milk"; Saturday, 3 p.m., Middlesex hall, Dr. Paul Blanchard on "Pure and Clean Food"; Saturday, 8 p.m., Middlesex hall, Dr. Francis R. Mahony on "Health on the Farm."

Fourth floor, Chalfoux building; Thursday, 3 p.m., "Plan and the Microbe," Dr. J. A. Mehan; Friday, 3 p.m., "Cancer and the Wear and Tear Diseases of Adult Life," Dr. M. A. Tighe; Saturday, 3:30 p.m., "Open Air Schools," Dr. Moore of Winchester; Saturday, 8 p.m., "Control of Tuberculosis," Dr. Francis Finnegan.

Store at John and Merrimack streets; Saturday, 3 p.m., "Child Welfare," with demonstrations, Miss Dickinson. Miss Holland stated today that she is particularly anxious to have as many mothers as possible on hand to attend the lecture on Saturday afternoon. "We want a lot of mothers present," she said, "and I hope we will not be disappointed. The school children are writing invitations to their parents to attend the lectures and I think the mothers will be the little ones will bring the mothers out."

BRANDEIS CASE IN COSTELLO WILL CASE

Nominations Will Be Acted Upon By Committee Wednesday

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The nomination of Louis D. Brandeis to the supreme court will be acted upon by the senate judiciary committee next Wednesday. By unanimous consent the committee decided today to vote at that time.

Members of the committee said there was no discussion today regarding the probable result of the vote. The only determination was that the committee should dispose of the nomination without recommendation and let the senate decide.

Opinion is divided among senators generally as to the probable outcome, although the majority believe that the committee will return the nomination without recommendation and let the senate decide.

CASEMENT AND BAILEY COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

LONDON, May 17, 4.32 p. m.—Sir Roger Caseement and Daniel J. Bailey were committed for trial today for high treason. This decision was reached at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing of these men on the charge of participation in the Irish rebellion which has been in progress since Monday. The date of the trial and the court before which it will be held have not yet been announced.

HEARING CONCLUDED

LONDON, May 17.—The decision as to whether Sir Roger Caseement and Daniel J. Bailey must stand trial for their lives in the high court of justice on a charge of high treason is expected to be handed down late today by Sir John Dickinson, sitting as committing magistrate in the Bow street police court.

The prosecution has very little more evidence to introduce against the head of the Sinn Fein revolt and the former British soldier whom he is accused of having seduced from his allegiance. It is generally believed that the prisoners will reserve their defence for the higher court, although their lawyers have consistently refused to make any statement as to their intentions.

When the case was reopened today Constable Carter of the Royal Irish Constabulary was recalled for cross-examination at the request of the defence. The trend of the questions indicated that at the time of his arrest Bailey attempted unsuccessfully to give information to the police in regard to the projected uprising.

Carter was asked whether he had heard Bailey say after his arrest that he had a statement for the authorities and that an officer should be sent for. The constable responded that he did not hear this, but that at another time he did hear Bailey say, "I have important information which will give you police something to do."

Russian Rifles Sent by Germany

who is in this country on special work for his government, identified the rifle produced in court yesterday, which was taken by a diver from the wreck of the German steamship Aud, as one made in the Russian Poulva works in 1916. The cartridges, however, were not of Russian make. The inference drawn by those in court was that part of the war materials shipped from Germany consisted of captured Russian rifles, ammunition for which was made in Germany.

Map Made in Germany

The prosecution then called Lieut. Col. Gordon, who testified that the map which Caseement and his companions brought from Germany and carried in the sand was similar to those made by the German war staff. It evidently had been reproduced, the witness said, from British survey maps. There were certain spots of color about the garbisons in Ireland which were not shown on English maps. The colonel did not know what these markings on Caseement's map meant.

CLERKS' STRIKE OFF

NEW HAVEN RAILROAD EMPLOYEES ACCEPT COMPANY'S PROPOSAL

NEW HAVEN, May 17.—The threatened strike of 2200 freight clerks on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, which had been ordered for this afternoon at 2 o'clock, has been averted. It was announced last night that Edward B. Mahoney, a federal commissioner of conciliation, in making the announcement, said that the wage dispute "was happily adjusted and that the men would continue work in accordance with their acceptance of the proposition presented by General Manager C. L. Bardo of the road. Mr. Bardo's proposition included an increase of 6.4 per cent in wages. Mr. Mahoney said:

"While all that the men demanded was not conceded by the management, a substantial increase in wages, and some appreciable benefits in working conditions were granted. The acceptance by the committee was unanimous, and, when decided upon, was made in the best possible spirit, auguring well for the permanence of pleasant relations between the employers and the men."

"I cannot speak too highly of the consideration exhibited in a most difficult and perplexing situation by the representatives of both sides. Perhaps the most complete presentation of the settlement is set forth in the letter which the committee of the men addressed to me for delivery to Mr. Bardo as follows:

"After carefully considering Mr. Bardo's proposition of yesterday, as compared with the one which, through you, he submitted today and which we informed you could not be accepted, we have decided that the interests of peace and in furtherance of an amicable adjustment of the controversy to withdraw our rejection of the proposition submitted yesterday by Mr. Bardo, and to accept the same."

"While naturally not entirely satisfied with many of the features and provisions of the proposition which we thus accept, we deem it preferable to forego certain advantages, which we believe we ought to have and receive, rather than precipitate a commercial and industrial struggle, which would inevitably interfere with the business prosperity not only of all the New England States, but in an appreciable degree also of the country at large."

"You are, therefore, authorized to communicate this acceptance to General Manager Bardo and to assure him that while not satisfied in all respects, we are nevertheless glad to give this example of co-operation in the effort to obviate anything that will impede the progress of either the road or the public."

CANNOT SHIP EXPORTS

Central and South American Shippers Become Manufacturers—Buy Machinery for Factories

NEW YORK, May 17.—Despairing of obtaining adequate tonnage to ship their exports and to bring to them in return needed manufactured articles from the United States, numerous big shippers of Central and South America are now buying in this country machinery with which they may turn their raw products into manufactured articles for their own trade, according to Robert Lee Dunn, secretary of the All-American association, a Pan-American trade organization with headquarters here.

One of the most extensive orders recently placed here, Mr. Dunn said, was for a complete shoe factory for Colombia, where hides for years before the war constituted one of the chief articles of export trade.

After noting further the efforts of South American countries to provide for the manufacture within their own boundaries of products hitherto exported, Mr. Dunn concludes:

"Lack of tonnage is the biggest drawback to promotion of trade. This is well illustrated by the following incident. M. J. Rigero, a wealthy land owner of Honduras, spent two weeks

BULLET IN HIS SPINE

SURGEONS HOPEFUL THAT HAVERTHILL LAD WILL LIVE—TRYING TO DODGE SHOTS WHEN INJURED

HAVERTHILL, May 17.—Clifton Metcalf, who was shot through the abdomen last Saturday night at Groveland, while trying to demonstrate to girl playmates that he could hold a revolver at his head, fire it and then dodge the bullet, will live with a 33-calibre bullet lodged in his spine, according to surgeons at the Hale hospital yesterday.

Young Metcalf was thought to have been mortally wounded when the surgeons found that the bullet had entered his abdomen and could not be located. Yesterday it was revealed, lodged in the spine, where it struck after passing through the abdomen. As the boy is resting comfortably and there is no evidence of infection from the bullet, the surgeons have decided to make no further effort to remove it.

INDUSTRIAL and STORE NEWS

Carpenters' union, local 1510, will meet tonight in the Runkel building.

The Woolen Spinners' union has an important meeting scheduled for tonight.

Work at the plant of the Merrimack Woolen mills in Dracut was resumed this week but the company has not yet announced its plans for the future.

The U. S. Cartridge Co. Fixers' union held a largely attended meeting Sunday afternoon in the Central street headquarters of the organization. The principal business of the meeting was the election of officers.

Carpenters' Union
Carpenters' union, local 49 held its regular weekly meeting last night in the Runkel building at which considerable business of importance was transacted. Two new members were initiated and several applications were referred to the investigating committee. Business Agent Michael Lee submitted an interesting report.

Barbers' Union
The Barbers' union held a meeting last evening in Cotton Spinners' hall, Middle street, and transacted considerable routine business. Three new members were admitted and five applications for membership were received. A committee for Labor day was also appointed.

Trades & Labor Council
The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Trades & Labor council will be held tomorrow night at 32 Middle street. Further plans for Labor day will be among the matters taken up at the meeting and it is expected that a number of delegates will present grievances of their organization to be ironed out.

Many Conferences Held
The management of the Harvard Brewery, and representatives of the Teamsters, Helpers and Bottlers' unions have held a number of conferences relative to increased wages for members of the unions working at the local plant, and it is expected that the matter will soon be settled. The working agreement of the unions expired May 1, and a new working agreement, asking for increased wages and better working conditions was presented. The management of the brewery has made an offer of a flat increase of $2 a week, but it is understood that this amount has not yet been accepted by the employees. The contract of the engineers, firemen and coopers employed at the plant is still in force.

General Strike
The president of the International Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees last night issued orders for a general strike of track workers on the Boston & Maine railroad. Over 150 track workers are employed during the spring and summer months on the road in Lowell. A number of these went on strike two weeks ago and the ranks left open were filled by other laborers. Wallace G. Parkin, general agent of the road in this city, says that the strike will not materially affect conditions in the local yards. The work of the men is confined almost wholly to track repairs.

The trackmen of the Boston & Maine road are working for a wage of $1.50 for a day of 10 hours. The men ask $2 for 10 hours. In large centres, however, the men receive $1.90 for 10 hours and ask $2.16. Track foremen receive from $2.50 to $3.40 for a 10-hour day.

Boston & Maine railroad officials claimed a "comparatively small proportion" number of the normal sum of force are on strike. These, they asserted, were largely out through misapprehension. For instance, diet is a great factor in health, and you are responsible for it, then again when any member of your family gets into a run-down condition, when the children are delicate, cross and ailing, when somebody takes cold and develops a cough, they look to you for help. Do you know that our local druggists, Liggett's Drug Store, Riker-Jaynes Drug Store, Fells & Burkinshaw and The Lowell Pharmacy, Routhier & Delisle, Proprietors, have a non-secret constitutional remedy known as Vinol which they guarantee for just such conditions. Many families in this vicinity have found it so reliable they are never without it.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Waterways Measure Amended— Bill to Abolish Port Directors and Harbor Commission

BOSTON, May 17.—By a rollcall vote of 145 to 75 the Massachusetts house of representatives yesterday passed to be engrossed the bill to abolish the board of harbor and land commissioners and the directors of the port of Boston and to establish the Massachusetts waterways commission. The consolidation for which this measure provides is a part of Gov. McCall's general plan for a reduction of the number of state commissions. There was an extended debate on the measure. Of a variety of amendments offered those of Mr. Fitz-Henry Smith of Boston, to insure the performance of work for terminals and to create superintendents of engineering and commerce; of Mr. Sawyer of Ware, to insure the completion of the present contracts to fix the salary of the chairman at $6500 and of the other two members at $6000; of Mr. Kravitz, to insure the completion of the South Boston dry dock and the East Boston improvements, were adopted.

The only amendment which got a rollcall was that of Mr. Smith of Provincetown to make the salary of the chairman $3500 and of the other members $3000. It was rejected, 87 to 132.

DESPAIRING WOMAN Now Happy Mother

Mrs. Stephens Did Not Need
The Surgical Operation.

Patoka, Ill.—"I had been married five years and my greatest desire was to become a mother. The doctor said I never would have a child unless I was operated on for female troubles and I had given up all hopes when a friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly for some time, and I am in better health than ever, and have a healthy baby girl. I praise your Vegetable Compound for my baby and my better health. I want all suffering women to know that it is the sure road to health and happiness."—Mrs. GEORGE STEPHENS, R. F. D. No. 3, Patoka, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old-fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence.

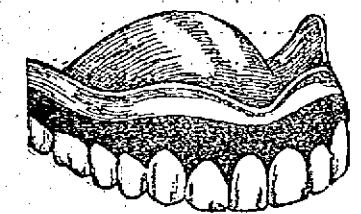

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

permit national legislation on marriage and divorce was defeated. Another lengthy debate occurred on the senate's amendments to the so-called "delinquent children" bill. The question was on concurring with the senate amendment, striking out the provision for a jury trial and the provision that the first commitment may be for not more than three months. The house concurred, 134 to 77.

A resolve appropriating $500 for a monument to Chevalier de Saint Sauveur, an officer of the French fleet sent to Boston to help the Americans in the Revolutionary War who lost his life in a riot in Boston, was passed to be engrossed after an amendment authorizing the governor to appoint a commission to carry out the provisions of the resolve was adopted.

Senatorial Bill Admitted

The house concurred with the senate in suspending the rules to admit the bill to provide that the election of United States senators shall take place on the day of the state election. The bill of the state department of health, as passed by the senate, was referred to the committee on ways and means.

The conference committee on the means process bill reported agreement on the senate form and the report was accepted.

The house extended to May 18 the time for reporting by the special committee on commission consolidations.

The public service committee reported a bill to confirm appointments of the mayor and public safety commissioner of Cambridge.

May Veto Police Bill

Gov. McCall declared that he had not signed the bill for one day off in eight for Boston policemen when he left the state house last night, although the five days allowed him for approval or veto expired at midnight last night.

Whether the governor has prepared a veto message to go to the legislature today or has decided to allow the bill to become law without his signature will not be definitely known until the legislature meets this morning, but a veto message was predicted at the state house last night.

The bill permits the city council of Boston, with the approval of the mayor, to accept the terms of the bill any time within six months.

Signs Cripples' Aid Bill

Gov. McCall has signed the bill to provide that the state board of education shall investigate what provisions exist in Massachusetts to give special training and instruction to persons who have suffered loss of sight or loss of or injury to limb, or other severe injury, and whose earning capacity has been impaired or destroyed. The governor will present the bill to Representative John L. Monahan of South Boston.

Signs Small Loans Act

The so-called small loans act, providing that the interest and expenses on small loans shall not exceed in the aggregate 3 per cent a month on the amount actually received by the borrower, was yesterday signed by Gov. McCall.

Recalled From Governor

The senate recalled from the governor the bill "relative to municipal liens for public improvements." Enactment was reconsidered. An amendment was adopted on motion of Senator Cavanaugh of Everett which will, if the bill becomes law, restore the law affecting municipal liens that existed prior to 1915.

The senate also recalled from the governor the bill authorizing the public service commission to order reasonable extensions of street railway lines; enactment was reconsidered, and an amendment offered by Senator Gordon of Springfield limiting the authority of the commission to those locations previously accepted by the companies was adopted.

The committee on ways and means reported that the bill to provide a new method for the distribution of corporation franchise taxes and to provide for reimbursement to cities and towns for one-third of the amount of taxes lost on account of soldiers' exemptions ought to pass.

A perfecting amendment was adopted on the bill to provide for the taxation of certain forest products, and it was sent to the house for concurrence.

Discuss Reckless Driving

The best way to "put teeth" into the law regarding the reckless driving of motor vehicles was discussed yesterday at a conference on the Allen bill between the legislative committee on roads and bridges, Col. William D. Sohler, chairman of the Massachusetts highway commission, and representatives of various associations.

Senator Clark of Brockton declared that drastic measures be taken to make it impossible for a drinking man to secure a license to operate a car. He and Col. Sohler disagreed as to whether the court records should be taken as absolute proof. Col. Sohler said these records are often defective, declaring that investigation by his board has frequently proved them wrong.

J. T. Sullivan, representing the Bay State Automobile association, complained that the Allen bill removes all discretion from the highway commission.

Col. Sohler stated that many men have been arrested charged with driving while under the influence of liquor when the real offence consisted of being imprudent to a policeman.

The Allen bill was favored by its author, Representative Allen of Newton, and by Lawrence G. Brooks, representing the Highway Safety league.

Income Tax Hearing

The senate ways and means committee held a hearing yesterday on the Income Tax bill. Prof. Charles J. Bullock, Charles A. Andrews, Representative George P. Drury, Representative Allison G. Catheron, Tax Commissioner Trefry and Representative Joseph F. Stone were among the proponents.

Prof. Bullock said that in his opinion the Income Tax bill would result in additional revenue to the state, but wealthy towns with abnormally low tax rates would eventually lose by it. These towns gained an unfair advantage years ago through "connivance" of assessors and wealthy residents of the state and cannot hope to retain such an advantage "under any popular form of government," he said.

Tax Commissioner Trefry estimated the probable cost of collection of the proposed income tax at $125,000 the first year.

Representative Samuel H. Midram said the bill will not accomplish the purpose for which it is intended, for half of the intangible property in the state will be exempted from taxation under its provisions.

Representative William H. Southern stated that the cost of collecting the tax will be far in excess of $125,000. He favored a state-wide referendum of the measure.

The provisions for compulsory returns contained in the bill were attacked by Representative George M. Worrall.

UNEARDED INDIAN RELICS

Benjamin Lincoln of Norton Finds Implements Many Believe Were Used by King Philip's Indians

NORTON, May 17.—Benjamin Lincoln, whose farm is on the Bay road, East Norton, unearthed yesterday a number of Indian relics which, strengthens the contention of many, that the borders of Winnemac lake were once the campground of King Philip's Indians.

Mr. Lincoln was plowing in a section of his farm which had never been utilized for planting purposes when the blade turned up a quantity of the relics.

Among the relics found were a stone mortar, several spearheads, arrow points of flint and a dish with a rather skillfully carved handle. Yesterday's find is regarded as one of the most valuable for years.

A short way from Mr. Lincoln's farm is a den, formed by two massive rocks, which is known as King Philip's cave.

It is said that the earliest settlers found every evidence in and about the shelter that King Philip and his Indians used it while on fishing excursions to Winnemac lake.

All of the men were bailed out after being booked. Henry J. O'Dowd going security for the majority of them. This morning when their cases were called, the men were led into the courtroom and lined alongside the witness stand, where all pleaded guilty. Deputy Downey recommended a fine of $1 for each offender, but Judge Enright passed up the recommendation and imposed a fine of $10 on each man. Henry J. O'Dowd again went security for the men when George P. Toye entered an appeal on their behalf. The case of John P. Carney was then called and a continuance granted.

Non-Support Case

Peter Bruley, who pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with failing to support his wife and two children was sentenced to the house of correction for a term of four months. He appealed.

Fined $10

On the evening of May 5 Frank Kelly and a companion named Merrill were walking down Gorham street near the East Chelmsford line when they were stopped by some boys and called vile names. Both Kelly and Merrill went back to the gang, after Kelly had been hit in the leg with a stone and Kelly punched one John A. Dix in the face and knocked him to the ground. A short time later Dix was taken to St. John's hospital where it was found that he was suffering from a fracture of the jaw.

This morning in police court Dix appeared as the complainant against Kelly. He said that he was standing on Gorham street with two other boys when Kelly came back and attacked him. He said some of the boys who were with him might have thrown stones at the defendant, but that he didn't. Kelly, he said, didn't accuse him of doing anything, but just walked up to him and punched him in the face.

When Kelly was put on the stand he told a story that put a different aspect on the case. He said that on the night in question he went to his cousin's home in East Chelmsford to get some eggs and that when he was returning home, he and his companion, Merrill, were called names by boys standing near a store in Gorham street. He walked back to the boys, he said, and gave them warning to stop and then continued on his way home. He had gone no more than 50 feet, he said, when he was struck in the leg by a stone thrown by one of the boys. He admitted going back and striking Dix, but said he did so because Dix stepped out to hit him first. As Judge Enright has received several complaints of boys hanging out in the vicinity of where the assault took place, curbing and stoning people, he was inclined to believe the story told by Kelly and he imposed a fine of $10, after warning the defendant not to take the law into his own hands, should anything of the kind occur again.

Given Six Months

A travelling man named William H. Andrews or Andrus was sentenced to six months in jail for leading a young girl astray. The case caused much indignation among those who heard the evidence.

Other Cases

Seth Glover who was released only yesterday after being found guilty of drunkenness was in again this morning and Judge Enright ordered him committed to jail for a month. A sentence of one month was also imposed on John Collins, who stole a pair of shoes from a room in a boarding house in Appleton street. Collins was put to work by the owner of the house yesterday hanging wall paper, but he soon tired of his job when he spotted the shoes. He was arrested trying to dispose of them.

The case of Jacob Charkoski, charged with collecting junk without a license was placed on file and John Sasse, charged with failing to send one of his children to school for 17 school sessions prior to April 17, had his case against Leo Sherlock, a Dracut milkman, for having milk bottles in his possession which belonged to other dealers was dismissed.

Sketch of His Long Career—Had Been Stationed at Lowell

THE LATE BROTHER PETER, C.F.X.

DANVERS, May 17.—Brother Peter, the oldest member of the Xaverian Brotherhood in the United States, was stricken with heart failure yesterday at Beverly and died in 40 minutes. Brother Peter, who was stationed at St. John's preparatory school in this town, had gone to Beverly to secure flowers for the chapel altar.

Brother Peter, the oldest member of the Xaverian Brotherhood in the United States, celebrated the golden jubilee of his entrance into religion in the County Tipperary, Ireland, in January 10, 1871. His name in the world was Martin Gleason. At the age of twenty, he emigrated to the United States and settled in Cincinnati. He resided here for some years, when, feeling a desire to devote himself to the work of Christian education, he applied for admission into the Xaverian congregation, which had been recently established in Louisville, and was accepted as a postulant on March 23, 1894.

The brothers of that time had charge of most of the parochial schools of the city. Many of them were located at a great distance from the brothers' residence and the journey to and from school, "always on foot, must have been at times extremely tiresome. Add to this the inconveniences with which they had to contend, owing to a lack of proper school equipment and we have some idea of the privations which Brother Peter and his confreres underwent.

His postulantship finished, he was assigned to St. John's parochial school in the eastern end of the city. Here he remained for five years, when he was changed to the school, connected with the Cathedral of the Assumption, on Fourth avenue, where he remained until 1898.

In the latter year he was called to Baltimore to assist at Mount St. Joseph's college. We find him for the next four years in the vicinity of Baltimore. In 1898 he was one of four sent to establish an orphanage at West Troy, N. Y. The West Troy institution had to be relinquished after one year, and Brother Peter was again selected as a pioneer, this time to take over the Cathedral school in Richmond, Va., which previous to this had been taught by the diocesan clergy and seminarians.

He remained in Richmond for four years, at the end of which time he was introduced to New England, being transferred to St. Patrick's school, Lowell. His sojourn here was also limited to four years, being then transferred to St. Mary's school, Lawrence. From 1898 to 1901, a period of thirteen years, Brother Peter remained in Lawrence, and his name is perhaps more closely identified with the latter city than it is with any other place where he has been. His winning personality attracted to him a host of real friends, while his zealous work in behalf of the children of the parish won the lasting gratitude of the local clergy.

In 1901, his superiors, justly thinking that his sterling qualities and religious character would act as an inspiration to the younger members of the order, called him to the mother house in Baltimore to act as assistant to the major novices. We find him later at St. Vincent's academy, Newport News, Va., then at St. Mary's industrial school, Baltimore, where he had charge of the junior department, and finally to St. John's at Danvers.

Brother Peter's life has been an extremely useful one. His admirable tact in the management of the young children has made him wonderfully successful in this department. His care of them did not merely confine itself to the inculcating of the three R's, but education with him has always been understood in its fullest sense. Personal habits of order and cleanliness have been traits which he has always demanded from his pupils. They can testify how successful he has been in obtaining desired results along these lines.

Not alone to the class room have Brother Peter's activities been confined. Energetic by nature, his leisure hours have always been well spent in some work that would be of benefit to the community.

Old age did not change his naturally cheerful disposition. This quality, united with genuine simplicity of manner and deep piety endeared him to all who knew him.

His life, from a worldly standpoint, was uneventful. His name will not be handed down to posterity as a maker of history; the names of but few spiritual men are; but among his own religious family the beauty of his simple, prayerful life will act as an incentive in years to come. Not to these alone, however, will influence for good be restricted; the teachings and good example he has given to others during his long life will continue to bear fruit among those who knew him and his wise counsel and guidance will now be more appreciated than ever by the thousands of students to whose young lives he gave the initial impetus in righteousness and Christian virtue.

On the occasion of his golden jubilee Brother Peter was honored by the presence of Gov. Walsh and many prominent clergymen and laymen whose education was started under the benign influence of this saintly educator.

Despite the inclement weather last evening the attendance at the bazaar, which is being conducted in St. Louis parochial school for the benefit of the church was very large and the receipts of the evening were very substantial. The event was "Lowell night," and the evening's program included numbers by Mrs. O. J. David and Arcelle Brunelle, while J. Clermont entertained with a slack wire performance. The mayor and other members of the municipal council were in attendance.

IMPORTED BOXING

Many U. S. Pugilists to Perform at Argentine Republic

NEW YORK, May 17.—Imported boxing is the latest innovation in the game of slum. Buenos Ayres, capital of the Argentine Republic, down in South America, has undertaken to foster the sport on its popular, and in order to accomplish this it has been found necessary to recruit talent from another country—the United States.

Boxing is bound to thrive there, unless the imported stock continue their American practices. A few rapacious managers and a couple of hippodrome artists and the game in South America will die a horrible death. The Buenos Ayres club, which will conduct all matches, has the moral and financial support of the government. So it is wholly up to Americans to make or break boxing below the isthmus.

The Argentine government officials, who are endeavoring to make Buenos Ayres a boxing mecca, have already made one step in the proper direction. They have nominated Billy Gibson, and there is no more honest individual connected with any sport, as their American representative. Gibson will handle all matches and will designate the boxers who are to appear in the Buenos Ayres arena.

A few days ago Gibson shipped a half-dozen mediocre performers to the southland to prepare for a series of bouts there. The party will be augmented within a few weeks upon the arrival of Gibson himself and possibly such headliners as Ted Kid Lewis, Benny Leonard, Johnny Dundee, Jack Britton, Battling Levinsky and mayhaps Michael Gibbons. Argentine will indeed be a haven for those boxers who are unable to work here steadily during the summer months.

The natives of Buenos Ayres have yet to be initiated to real American boxing. There is no local talent worthy of a preliminary here, but they are a painstaking lot down there, and do not get surprised if within a year you hear of our favorites being taken over the hurdles by home products.

One of the most interesting battles Buenos Ayres in the immediate future has passed the incubation stage. The natives have heard quite a good deal of one Freddy Welsh and Harry Pollock's meal ticket has been offered the alluring sum of $25,000—a flat guarantee, too—to battle for the 20-round title.

Chase had over the 20-round trail, with the lightweight championship in abeyance. With this goes two round trip tickets and $1500 for training expenses, nearly $25,000. White, if the bout materializes, is to receive $10,000, round trip passage for two and $1500 expenses money.

Billy Gibson in person is negotiating for this mill and in doing so he shows his true colors as a sportsman of the first water. Gibson, be it remembered, is manager of Benny Leonard, who in all fairness is entitled to first choice at Welsh's side, inasmuch as he only recently trounced the champion in a ten-round bout. Welsh has already beaten White several times over the short route. But Gibson, setting aside his own ambitions, and those of Benny Leonard, when in reality none would criticize him were he to arrange a Welsh-Leonard match, prefers to gratify the wishes of those who think a Welsh-White tilt would provide better entertainment. Not that Gibson must cater to the officials (for he is a fairly wealthy man), but because he would rather please others than satisfy himself and displease others. Of such stuff is Billy Gibson made.

And all the time Gibson is aware that he is probably tossing off the last chance for Leonard to dethrone Welsh. If the latter is to be taken at his word he will retire on July 7, the second anniversary of his winning the championship from Willie Ritchie, and if the White-Welsh match goes through it will be held on July 7 and will be Freddy's last appearance within the hempen stockade. If, again, Welsh means what he says, so, regardless of the outcome of the Welsh-White bout, Benny Leonard will not get another chance at Sir Frederick when Benjamin knows in his heart that he can whip Welsh every time they square off.

By the terms of the tentative agreement White and Welsh are to sail from New York on June 2. Not until that date will it be known if the match is a certainty. It is planned to hold boxing contests in Buenos Ayres every day during the month of July and the first half of August. So a general exodus of maulers may be expected within the next fortnight. Good luck to them all, so long as they fight on the level.

EASTERN LEAGUE COMMENT

For the third time this week J. Pluvius interrupted the Eastern league schedule today. Lowell was the only city to stage a game Monday, and yesterday Portland had that honor. The weather today was even worse, and the Lowell Baseball club officials did not put out the flag announcing that there would be a game. Lowell was anxious for revenge today as the last time the team met Hartford the trouble resulting in the forfeit occurred. Weather permitting, Lowell and Hartford will come together tomorrow afternoon and a good game is promised.

Walter Lonergan, formerly with Lowell and other cities in the old New England league, reported to Manager Duffy at Portland yesterday. Lonergan is taking the place of Guy Maxwell, this year's Lowell castoff, who is suffering from ptomaine poisoning. In the few games Maxwell played with Portland he made a fine showing. Yesterday Lonergan did not secure a hit in three trips to the bat and missed two of three chances in the field, but this is undoubtedly due to lack of practice as Walter was capable of much better work only a year ago.

Alec Pearson, last year pitcher and manager of the Lawrence team, is picked by Jesse Burkett to win his share of the games this year. He is pitching better than ever and it is thought that the managerial worries hung too heavy on the genial ex-manager, who is very popular with Lawrence fans.

Bob Conley, who has played in the Lawrence outfield for the past two seasons and who has cut a figure in many a game in this city, was released by Manager Burkett this week.

BATting AND FIElding

Lowell Team Drops From First to Fifth in Team Batting—Springfield Leads

Lowell dropped from first to fifth place in team batting in the second week in the Eastern league race, according to averages compiled Thursday evening. Springfield, Lowell and Lawrence are holding the top line honors. The two first teams lead the circuit in order in batting with averages of .272 and .262, respectively, while the Lawrence nine is showing the way in fielding, having an average of .353. The hitting in general showed a big improvement in the league last week, every team with the exception of Lowell increasing its former figures. The Grays, who were showing the way last week, dropped 32 points off their old figures and slid from first to a tie with Lynn for fifth honors. New Haven, Lowell, Lawrence, Bridgeport and Hartford all had several points clipped off the defensive average, while Springfield stood still, clinging to the same average, .348, that it sported last week.

Portland has registered the greatest number of runs, 62. Springfield with one less is second in this respect. New London has made the greatest number of hits, 105, which is one more than the total output of the Springfield crew. Springfield leads in doubles and shares the top honors with Bridgeport in making triples, each club sporting five three-plays raps. The Springfield clan also holds the home-run hitting honors, sporting three circuit raps. Lowell has a like number. Portland has run away from all the catchers it has worked against, having 33 steals. Lowell has used the sacrifice hit the most, having 14 intentional outs to its credit. Portland, Lynn and Hartford have benefited by the sacrifice fly on four occasions each. The table below includes all games played up to Thursday night:

Conley's failure to hit is the reason he was allowed to go.

Helmie Wagner, former Red Sox shortstop and now manager of the Hartford team, was in conference with Clyde Engle, Boston last week in an attempt to sign him up for the outfield. Engle, however, was packing his grip for Cleveland and said that if the Indians did not retain him he would go to the Pacific coast. Some fans expected to see Engle come here with Harry Lord, but the west was more attractive to the former Boston player.

Over 2000 people sat in the gloom at Bridgeport Sunday and saw Billy Hamilton's lowly Worcester crew swamp New Ball's team by the score of 15 to 2. Bridgeport is proving to be one of the best cities in the league so far as attendance is concerned and the owners are attempting to give a good ball team. Despite the cold, rainy weather on the opening day of the season a good sized crowd turned out to see Lowell play and the game was true the following day. The Lowell club found Bridgeport the best baseball city on the Connecticut end of the circuit. Hartford, they say, was the worst proposition.

The rain of the last two days is the only thing that has stopped New London from winning some more games. McCann has had a good team from the start and has not had to try out many recruits. Every man on the New London team is in mid-season condition and this fact explains their great showing. McCann's team is well balanced by every department and is composed of a scrappy bunch of ball players that look like a good bet at this time. The season is young yet, however, and a few reverse decisions would put the Planters on a level with the other teams.

Hence when a friendly competition was proposed and accepted the

"GENE" MCCANN HAS LONG BASEBALL CAREER—MANAGED N. E. TEAM IN 1896

H. Eugene McCann, manager of the New London club, is a former major league player. He has been 21 years in baseball as a player, manager or scout. He is a native of Baltimore, Md., and played his first ball for Hanover in the Cumberland league in 1895. He was with Pawtucket in the New England league for a short while in 1896. He was with Hamilton, Ont., in 1897, and then with George F. Stallings at Detroit and also played for Minneapolis. He went to Brooklyn and then to Jersey City in 1902, where he played eight years and the last season was manager of the club. He was then scout for New York Highlanders and while acting in that capacity got a chance to go to Bridgeport. He twice lost pennants in the last day of the league race. In 1910 he was tied with Waterbury and lost out the last day and next year lost to Springfield. In 1913 he was second. In the middle of the season of 1913 he went to New London and won the pennant there in 1914, losing the series with Lawrence.

McCann was a right hand pitcher when actively in the game.

SALES ON THE INCREASE

SUPPLY HOUSES ARE DOING A RECORD BUSINESS — OTHER NEWS OF INTEREST

The Boston Auto Supply, Bridge street, calls attention of the autoist today to the fact that they have received a shipment of automobile bumpers which can be attached to machines of every make. It is a wise auto owner who has one of these bumpers on his car, for its cost is slight and very frequently it saves considerable damage from being done when the machine goes wrong and tries to climb a telegraph pole or even "annihilate" a White Way pole as often the other day. This particular machine succeeded in destroying both the pole and its own radiator. If the car had had a bumper the damage which was considerable could have been averted.

The Pullman car performed a stunt one day this week over which the local agent, C. W. Johnson, feels very proud. Curtis Johnson was demonstrating a Pullman Four to a prospective purchaser and took him out through West Chelmsford and Brookside. When they came to the difficult hill near Westford village, the car did not hesitate for an instant but easily negotiated the incline on high speed. It is needless to say that this feat was duly appreciated by the prospect, as this ascent is one of the most difficult in this vicinity.

Geo. R. Dana has on his floor two Cadillac Eight touring cars in special finish, one the standard Cadillac green with a black band edged with a gold stripe around top of body; the other a very attractive gray with black band edged with a stripe, black radiator, fenders and splashers, a combination which makes a very distinctive and artistic job. Mr. Dana is also showing a very handsome Cadillac Eight roadster said to be a very easy riding car and lots of carrying space and a range of speed from two to 70 miles per hour.

280 Central street, is one of the busiest men in this city in his line of work. Although this shop cannot be said to be one of the pioneer houses, yet it is doing a big volume of business which may be attributed to Mr. Rourke's business methods and his reputation, and the fact that his vulcanizing department is in charge of the skilled Floyd Sweet.

George Myers of Bridge street is frequently seen about town in his new Auburn car, recently purchased from the local agency, the Auburn Motor Car Co.

Paul Louprette, the capable manager of the Howard street garage has resumed his position at that establishment after an absence of a number of months caused by a serious illness.

When the first announcement of the eight-cylindered Cadillac was made, there were a few interested students of automobile construction who predicted that the multiplicity of cylinders would prove fallacious, for, they argued, if four or six cylinders were sufficient to drive a car at a speed that fully satisfied all who tour for comfort, why add more cylinders? But while they were thinking that way, there were others, particularly the engineers of the Cadillac Co., who saw something else, other than mere satisfaction, and they were fully convinced that the latest perfected Cadillac with the multiple cylinders would prove to be the Cadillac's greatest product. They were right. The proof that they were shown in the record of shipments which Geo. R. Dana, the local agent, publishes in his advertisement today.

Mr. Burgess today announces a selling plan which is new, for the Saxon car. Doubtless this plan will be of interest to many.

Arthur Bachelder, manager of the local agency for the popular Indian motorcycle, states that this is the banner year of this firm's existence. The inflow of trade has kept him on the jump from the very beginning of the season. The number of sales of this year to date more than equals the entire number of sales of Indian machines made last year by this agency. Fortunately Arthur has been able to secure machines to fill orders on time. The bicycles which this same shop sells are enjoying great popularity and are in big demand.

Sometimes the machine won't behave just right. A common cause of this difficulty can be traced to the batteries. L. A. Derby & Co. are local agents for the famous Willard storage batteries. Inspection of these batteries and advice about the same can be had free of charge at this service station.

The Beharrell Tire Shop, Middle street, is coming in for a large share of the present automobile prosperity. In the short time during which this shop has been doing business a large Irish has been built up; this applies also to the vulcanizing end of the business which is in charge of John Collins.

Mr. Rochette of the Lowell Motor Mart and the Ford cars are keeping up their reputations of being good sellers. Probably one of the hardest dealers to find at his place of business is this Ford agent. It is easier to find him out with a prospect humming smoothly over the roads.

AUTOMOBILE QUESTION BOX

NOTE—In these columns every Wednesday we will give expert advice to motorists on how to repair and operate their machines. Automobile readers of THE SUN are invited to send in questions or problems they may wish to have answered. Such questions will receive attention in this column. Address all communications: Automobile Editor, Sun, Lowell, Mass. Communications must bear the signature and address of the sender, though not for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

The float in the carburetor of my car seems to leak. It is metal and seems to be heavier than it should be. I am told that I need a new one. Why can't one have one repaired? G. F.

Ans.—It is best to install a new float. This will prove more economical and satisfactory. The cost of a new float is approximately 50 cents.

One of the coils on my battery box buzzes all the time. I have looked for a short circuit, but I am not able to find it. What do you suggest is the trouble? E. J.

Ans.—It is possible that a small strand of wire is making contact where attached to the timer or the insulation on the timer at that point is broken. If the timer is old, would advise a new one, as the trouble may be inside and due to excessive wear. The trouble certainly indicates a short circuit somewhere in the primary circuit.

Will you please state in your auto column what condition takes place when the motor is said to be locked? What causes it and what is the remedy? F.

Ans.—If the cylinders are not properly lubricated the pistons will seize in the cylinders and lock. The absence of sufficient lubrication permits the metal surfaces to come in direct contact. Undue friction through lack of proper lubrication causes the metals to expand and seize. When this condition arises the damaged surfaces usually score, necessitating regrinding of the cylinders and refitting of new pistons and rings.

ing plan which is new, for the Saxon car. Doubtless this plan will be of interest to many.

Arthur Bachelder, manager of the local agency for the popular Indian motorcycle, states that this is the banner year of this firm's existence. The inflow of trade has kept him on the jump from the very beginning of the season. The number of sales of this year to date more than equals the entire number of sales of Indian machines made last year by this agency. Fortunately Arthur has been able to secure machines to fill orders on time. The bicycles which this same shop sells are enjoying great popularity and are in big demand.

Sometimes the machine won't behave just right. A common cause of this difficulty can be traced to the batteries. L. A. Derby & Co. are local agents for the famous Willard storage batteries. Inspection of these batteries and advice about the same can be had free of charge at this service station.

The Beharrell Tire Shop, Middle street, is coming in for a large share of the present automobile prosperity. In the short time during which this shop has been doing business a large Irish has been built up; this applies also to the vulcanizing end of the business which is in charge of John Collins.

Mr. Rochette of the Lowell Motor Mart and the Ford cars are keeping up their reputations of being good sellers. Probably one of the hardest dealers to find at his place of business is this Ford agent. It is easier to find him out with a prospect humming smoothly over the roads.

Also complete the secondary circuit. It should not be necessary to remove the unit from the coil box in order to make this test. By so doing the secondary will be taken care of.

You may find that the primary wire inside of the coil has become loosened from its binding post, thereby leaving the primary circuit open. You may also find that the wiring in the coil box itself is defective. The test you have in mind to make will determine whether the trouble lies with the coil or with the wiring of the coil box.

I have a 1914 car which heretofore has been perfectly satisfactory in every particular, a very quiet running car. At 5000 miles I had the shop inspect the car all over and the report was that it was in perfect mechanical condition and needed no adjustments, excepting only the carburetor air valve. Now I find the following trouble:

In high speed, with clutch in and motor driving car, there is a loud humming noise. Where it comes from I cannot guess. In high with clutch in and shutting off throttle so that the car is driving the motor, the noise immediately ceases. Advancing the throttle again, the noise immediately begins again. Where does this humming noise originate, what causes it, and what is the remedy? Thanking you for your courtesy in answering me, I am, P. P.

Ans.—The noise undoubtedly is caused by the clutch thrust bearing. This bearing is just back of the clutch and should be replaced with a new one. You probably will find it necessary to drop the transmission in order to do this.

Why is it that some motor car builders use aluminum crank cases and others use cast iron crank cases; is there any great difference in cost or strength? D. B.

Ans.—Aluminum is used on account of its lightness. Cast iron is much cheaper, but weighs considerably more. Aluminum has about the same strength as cast iron, but is about one-third lighter.

Would it cause any extra wear on the differential if in turning sharp corners one did not throw out the clutch? Or is it best to throw out the clutch and reduce to second speed? G. G.

Ans.—To throw out the clutch in turning corners does not affect the differential. It is designed to care for such requirements. To disengage clutch in turning sharp corners is good practice, but this is done more to relieve straight line shafts. Sharp corners should be taken at reduced speed. To do this it is often necessary to change to a lower gear before accelerating.

HELPFUL HINTS

Hot water should never be used for washing a car. It has a deteriorating effect on the varnish of a well finished body. A single application of hot water and soap will remove the lustre. Lukewarm water will not harm.

2-24 EAST MERRIMACK STREET

S. V. B. Noel. But the confining indoor work did not appeal to him so he became a farmer, tilling the soil, and doing the countless other duties of farm life in the crude makeshift manner that was current in those days. The call of the open road took him and the desire for land of his own, caused him to start on his first journey over the broad expanse of the Pacific. At the age of twenty-one he married and soon after with his young wife set out on an unknown destination, veiled in the mysteries of secret dangers, that led him after much delay, to Portland, Oregon. "When I decided to make this transcontinental trip in an automobile, I was obliged to have my car stripped to the chassis and a prairie schooner body and top built on. While there is of course nothing beautiful about my "schooner-mobile" in comparison with the graceful liquid lines of the regular car, I chose this type because I intended to live in the car until the trip is completed. By careful planning and minimizing useless space, it is surprising how much a prairie schooner body will carry and still be homelike indeed. I was delayed in Indianapolis while my latest book was being printed and left this city April 22nd, starting from Monument Place, or "Governor's Circle," as it was formally called, before the beautiful monument was even a creature of dreams. I expect to leave the capitol at Washington, D. C., about the middle of May, driving by easy stages into the heart of the setting sun on the long trip overland."

HEAD OF WILLYS-OVERLAND

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 17.—The formal annual meeting of the stockholders of the Willys-Overland company was held at the big automobile factory the other day, in conformation with the new by-laws adopted last fall which changed the fiscal year from June 30th to December 31st. Hereafter the annual meeting will be held the second Tuesday in May. At this meeting the old officers were re-elected, John N. Willys being re-elected president; H. T. Dunn, vice-president; H. L. Shepherd, vice-president; C. A. Earl, vice-president; Walter Stewart, treasurer; Royal R. Scott, secretary. The board of directors will consist of Messrs. John N. Willys, H. T. Dunn, Isaac Kinsey, C. A. Earl, H. L. Shepherd, Walter Stewart, Royal R. Scott, James Kepperly and Rathbun Fuller.

One of the interesting features of the meeting was the report of the sales department, which evidenced not only very gratifying results for the past twelve months, but also an excellent prospect not only for the continuation of very satisfactory business, but for an increase—other things being normal—in line with the increase of the past twelve months. Overland shipments for the twelve months ending April 30th, 1916, were 137,665 automobiles as against 50,268 cars for the preceding twelve months—an increase of 174 per cent.

NEW BRANCH FACTORY

To supplement the facilities of its main factory, the Saxon Motor Car company has opened a branch plant at Franklin and Beaubien streets, which will be devoted to building "six" roadsters.

For the last three months this factory building containing 60,000 square feet of floor space has been used as a service station for the factory, but the demand for Saxon cars has made it necessary to equip it with assembling machinery and turn it over to workmen started building "six" roadsters there and the production mark will be 25 cars a day in the plant, known as the Franklin street branch. It is the plan of the Saxon company to build practically all of its "six" roadsters in this branch, leaving the main factory for the construction of the touring cars and "four" roadsters. In this way the officials hope to keep up with the demand for cars that is being made daily from all parts of the country.

The opening of the branch adds 25 cars a day to the total number that the Saxon is now building. In the main factory about 100 "six" touring cars and 70 "four" roadsters are being turned out daily. It is reported.

THE CITY OF RAVENNA

ANCIENT ITALIAN CITY IS TREASURE-TROVE FOR THE STUDENT AND THE TRAVELER

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—(Ita.)—The scene of a recent bombardment by Austrian aircraft, is the subject of today's war geography bulletin, issued by the National Geographic society from its Washington headquarters, which says:

"Forty miles east of Bologna, seventy miles south of Venice, and a hundred miles southwest of the Austrian naval base of Pola, lies the ancient Italian city of Ravenna, which, with the possible exception of Rome, possesses more magnificent examples of ecclesiastical architecture of the Byzantine period than any other city in the world."

"In art, in literature and in historic significance Ravenna is a treasure-trove for student and traveler. Its glories are attributed to the Theodoric, but there is more tradition than fact in the accounts of the region over which it held sway until it came under the jurisdiction of Rome nearly 200 years before the Christian era. It was here that Julius Caesar was assassinated, and it was here that his friends and political advisers from Rome during his ten years' campaign in Gaul."

"The importance of the port which strongly resembled Venice in its early days, but which is now six miles from the Adriatic, dates from the time when Augustus Caesar designated it as the naval base of the upper sea, its harbor being able to accommodate 250 ships at a time. At that period the marshy plain which now surrounds the town at the confluence of the Moncone and Ronco rivers, was little more than a vast salt flat. The houses were built on piles, and at high tide the sea formed numerous lagoons, the salt water so effectively removing the danger of malaria that the city soon acquired a reputation as a health resort, to which the gladiators of Rome were sent for training."

"Ravenna's golden age came not with the Augustan era, however, but while the great Roman empire's doom was being sealed. Honorius and his remarkable sister, Galla Placidia, becoming alarmed at the steady advance of the barbarian forces from the north, transferred their court from the Eternal City to the Adriatic port, which remained the seat of government for Italy not only during the few remaining years of the western empire, but throughout the ascendancy of the Greek emperors. Here the Byzantine viceroys or exarchs for the peninsula made their headquarters until the advent of the Lombards in the eighth century."

"Many of the most fascinating episodes of history are associated with the name of Ravenna, such, for example, as the tragic story of Odoacer, who wrested the realm of Italy from Orestes in 476 and then waged bitter war against Theodoric the Ostrogoth for many years, finally being shut up in Ravenna where he withstood a siege of three years. At length Odoacer capitulated with the understanding that he and Theodoric should divide the kingdom equally between them. To celebrate the compact a magnificent banquet was spread in a famous laurel grove, and here while the two rulers feasted the Ostrogoth with his own hand slew his royal rival."

"During the famous battle of Ravenna in 1512, the picturesque Giallon de' Poix completely routed the Spaniards under Cardona, but threw away his own life in the excitement of a Capitan Fabian emulating the exploit of the legendary Swiss hero, Winkelried, feeling that his men could not break through the wall of Spanish spears raised his long pike high over his head and brought it down crosswise with crushing force upon the opposing arms, thus sacrificing his own life but making a small gap in the enemy's line through which his own men rushed.

"Two names which shine in the gallery of Ravenna's renown are those of the city's greatest poets and one of the four great epic writers of civilization, Dante, and Lord Byron. It was in Ravenna that the founder of the modern Italian language died in 1321, and here his body is treasured in an urn, beneath a square-domed tomb. Byron, during his Italian sojourn lived in this city for two years, and here he died, merely by the famous Plinio (pine woods), five miles to the south, but the charms of the Countess Guiccioli. Nor should it be forgotten that in the adjacent marshes Anita, the heroic wife of the Italian liberator Garibaldi, died of fatigue during her flight from the French in 1849."

SUNDAY COMING TO HUB

HE ACCEPTS THE DOSTON SITE—SERVICES TO BE HELD ON OLD HALL GROUNDS

BOSTON, May 17.—Billy Sunday will preach next fall on the old Huntington avenue hall grounds. His son George says so.

George Sunday came to town for 11 hours yesterday. He gave local revival campaigns a little efficiency talk at the City club at noon; he went over the tabernacle problem with a small group of the committee, and then wired his father that neither Cambridge nor any other site offered such possibilities as the Huntington avenue location.

Billy's boss carpenter was with George, Joseph H. Spiece, and said he would put up a building in which Sunday can be heard in every corner, despite the building laws.

Late last night a telegram was received by Allen C. Emery, chairman of the Sunday campaign committee, from Billy Sunday, announcing that he accepted the Boston situation for the tabernacle.

"I know the building laws of Boston, and I can put up a building which the man standing far off in the back corner can hear," said Mr. Spiece.

Mr. Spiece is a carpenter and contractor from Ramey, Pa. He had a terrible time getting through the long luncheon at the City club before he could get out and have a chew of tobacco.

"I've built 17 tabernacles, and they were all a go," he went on. "If this one isn't a good 'un I'll tear it down and put up another. Making it of steel, brick and concrete will take about two months and a half, so we'll have to start in August."

The building will have brick outside walls, an inside wall of wood, steel supports which will be faced with plaster board, and a concrete rostrum covered with wood.

"No, that isn't all right," George said, "but it's the best we can do. And it will be possible for us to use such a building. That's all you can say for it."

George was more anxious to talk about the election. He says "Teddy

PLEDGES FOR $2,500,000

BISHOP LAWRENCE REPORTS ON PENSIONS FOR CLERGY—COMMITTEES WILL RAISE $5,000,000

BOSTON, May 17.—In a telegram from New York to the Boston Globe, Bishop Lawrence announces the receipt of pledges for $2,500,000—one-half of the $5,000,000 which must be in hand as a reserve fund to start the plan to pension the retiring clergy of the Protestant Episcopal church.

"The campaign to raise this money constitutes the largest single enterprise ever undertaken by the Episcopal church," he says. "It was formally started on March 1, and will continue for one year. It is expected that by March 1, 1917, the full reserve fund will have been subscribed, and the scheme will then be put into effect. Some 712 clergymen will then be eligible for immediate retirement."

"The plan contemplates that each of the 3800 clergy in the church will be eligible for retirement at 65 years of age upon a minimum annuity of $600 a year. The actual amount will be ascertained by multiplying the number of years of service by 1 1/4 per cent of the average annual salary received."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Billie Burke in a brand new Triangle picture play is the biggest sort of a boon for local lovers of the motion pictures, and Billie is to be seen at the B. F. Keith theatre this afternoon and evening for the final times. Just imagine it: one of the most beautiful of American actresses, bright in the very photograph and beautiful in the very play which has all the surroundings of a play which has all the kinds of tender heart interest. And, incidentally, is should be mentioned that the photograph shown is of the very highest order. Triangle moving pictures will send a thrill through this town, for they are superior in every way. Superior players, superior plays, superior photography, and they're as clean as a whistle.

Billie Burke has for several years been one of the most sought-after actresses for moving pictures. Naturally enough she had the "say" about the matter, and her say extended to the point of selecting a play for herself. "Peggy" was that play. It is in seven parts, the interest is sustained throughout, and the auxiliary characters are very well acted, indeed. Wm. H. Thompson as the Scotch laird does a wonderful bit of character acting. It ranks with the work of the star, while the other members of the cast are of the first calibre.

But there are other good things on the bill, and among them an admirable Triangle Keystone comedy in three parts, called "Fatty and Mabel admit." "Fatty" in none other than Roscoe Arbuckle and "Mabel" is Mabel Normand, who was featured a year ago with Chaplin in his plays. This comedy is punctuated with laugh spots, not the least of them being the drifting of the beach cottage out to sea while the bridegroom and his bride are sleeping soundly. They awake in good time, and their faithful dog carries the alarm to shore. In this work of Arbuckle and Miss Normand is genuinely good. The photography is excellent, and the whole play is conceived in the best manner of Mack Sennett, the discoverer of Chaplin.

A real Bud Fisher cartoon, brought into the movies, is the third splendid feature of the bill. "Mutt and Jeff in an Aeroplane" is its title and it is guaranteed to bring forth lots of laughter. These cartoons are among the recent hits of Almdom, and as Keith's always keeps abreast of the times in securing features such things are to be expected all of the time.

Tomorrow Frank Keenan in a great play of the Civil war, "The Coward," will be shown at the Fatty and Mabel in another screaming comedy will be presented. Frank Bernier, of the Snyder-Berlin forces sings animated songs at every performance. Prices, afternoon and evening, are 5, 10 and 15 cents.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

This is the last appearance of the stars which are playing in their latest releases and successes at the Merrimack Square theatre during the first 3 days of this week. They will be seen at the continuous performances at this theatre today. No one should miss seeing the wonderful Geraldine Farrar in the title role of the five act feature, "Mario Rosa" which is a play, gripping as few plays are gripping. It is equally important that you should see House Peters in his splendid play, "The Closed Road." If you are to see these two plays and the six Hopkins comedy, Pathe News and others you must come today for this is the last day for their presentation. ## OWL THEATRE

Violet Horner, one of the new stars of the motion picture world, will be seen at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow in another of the famous William Fox productions, "The Marble Heart." Just as her wonderful acting won her great fame on the legitimate stage, just so sure will the movie fan recognize her wonderful ability when she witnesses this new Fox feature.

"The Marble Heart" is a photoplay of fear and it depicts in a terrible manner, the way in which a sinner's conscience is torn and his life made weary. It tells of two young persons, who falling in love with each other and in order to gain their end murder the husband of the woman. Then there follow the scenes, in which the guilty pair, fearing one another, decide to kill each other. One day the mother of the murdered man overhears their accusation, each other, and from the moment that she discovers their guilt she becomes a paralytic and is unable to move anything except her eyes. How the invalid mother tries to make known the fact that the murderers are under her roof; how the two guilty ones, too cowardly to kill each other, decide to die from a draught of poison, forms a story in which in quick succession, big, gripping emotional scenes follow each other until persons in the audience almost feel that they can hear the players speaking. Other excellent photoplays and a good comedy will also be presented at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow.

ROYAL THEATRE

Of the many actors who have graced the screen with their ingratiating personalities, none has proven more popular than the old stage favorite, Rob-

ular than the old stage favorite, Robson, who, whose delineations of strong, vital types have proven a great delight to millions of his admirers. Today and tomorrow, Rob will put forth one of his best efforts in "Big Jim Garner," the first five-act Gold Rooster production, introducing Mr. Edson in his cast. The Royal theatre is fortunate to have such a drawing card on its program. As usual, Mr. Edson's part is a splendid one—he depicts "Big Jim" with that forceful vitality that is the happy-go-lucky individual with a punch in each hand, and a smile of guileless indifference behind his powerful strength. Mr. Edson is supported by a remarkable cast, and the production has been realistically finished. Another good feature for the mid-week performance is an episode of "The Iron Claw," with Pearl White, Sheldon Lewis and Creighton Hale, and of course, the mysterious "laughing mask," who becomes a deeper mystery than ever. Coming Friday and Saturday, the first of a series of Pathe pictures under the title of "Who's Guilty," sociological studies of different phases of life in our country. "Mysteries of Myra," also on these days.

JEWEL THEATRE

As we stroll along the streets and see people, do we sometimes think of the many among them that bear sorrow under a smiling countenance. If we were to know all the bitterness of this world, it would give us a different light on all matters. We would not be so apt to sneer at a painted face, laugh at the feeble-minded, we would not be so indifferent if we knew why some of us are bodily wrecked, drunkards and sometimes criminals. Some actors seem to feel these things, seem to know the causes and effects. In Miss Cleo Madison, we have such a player, who expresses the deep bitterness of pain with a realism that is baffling. She will appear in "Her Bitter Cup," a great human drama, today and tomorrow at the Jewel theatre. Other pictures will complete a great show.

YOU CAN HAVE PINK CHEEKS

What causes the color to fade from pink cheeks and red lips? In a word it is thin blood.

When the fading color in cheeks and lips is accompanied by a loss of brightness in the eyes and an increasing heaviness in the step, the cause is to be sought in the state of the blood.

A hundred causes may contribute to the condition of thin blood that is known as anemia. Overwork, lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient rest and sleep, improper diet, these are a few of them. The important thing is to restore the blood to normal, to build it up so that the color will return to cheeks and lips.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the great blood builder and invigorator. They begin at once to increase the red corpuscles in the blood and the new blood carries strength and health to every part of the body. Appetite increases, digestion becomes more perfect, energy and ambition return.

A booklet, "Building Up the Blood" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. if you mention this paper. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes, $2.50.

BILL DONOVAN SAYS PITCHER MARKLE IS FIND OF 1916 SEASON

NEW YORK, May 16.—Every now and then a kid pitcher drifts out of nowhere into the major leagues with a full line of the winning requisites and without further ado proceeds to win a regular berth for himself during his first season. They are rare birds, these youthful phenoms who come up from the sticks, needing nothing but an opening through which to project themselves into the thick of things, but the Yankees appear to have snared an especially robust specimen in the person of Cliff Markle. This young man was captured down at Waco, Texas, last summer, reported to the Yankees in the early fall and before the season closed won two games. Since the present season opened Markle has made a great showing, and Manager Bill Donovan says he is the find of 1916. Markle has made a start that promises a brilliant future for him and a rattling good pitcher for the New York club. Photo shows Markle on the mound.

GERMAN WARNING TO NEUTRAL GOVERNMENT

Merchant Ships Must Obey Provisions of International Law When Stopped By U-Boat, Says Note to U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Germany in a note presented to Secretary Lansing by Count von Bernstorff today warns neutral governments that merchant ships flying neutral flags must obey the provisions of international law in regard to their conduct when stopped by a German submarine and that they incur danger should they turn their ships in the direction of a submarine.

The text of the communication dated May 12, from the German embassy and signed by Count von Bernstorff, follows:

"A German submarine in January last signalled with flags from a distance the Dutch steamer Bandoeng, to stop. Instead of immediately complying with that summons, permissible under international law, the Dutch steamer turned at higher speed on the submarine, whose commander, on the assumption, warranted by the circumstances, that he had to do with an English ship in disguise, bent on attacking him, then opened fire on her. The steamer Bandoeng then stopped and sent over a boat for the examination of the ship's papers. On being asked about his captain's proceeding, the Dutch officer in command of the boat explained that he wanted to come nearer the submarine so as to shorten the visitation formalities. The imperial government finds in the incident occasion to suggest to the neutral governments that the masters of their merchant ships be given to understand that in the event of their being stopped by German public vessels the provisions of international law must be observed to the letter, and that their special attention be called to the dangers incurred by turning their ships on a submarine.

"Thus alone can incidents of the foregoing description be avoided, the responsibility for which would exclusively lie upon the neutral shipmaster."

FOR PEACE IN EUROPE

PRESIDENT WILSON TO DISCUSS WITH SECRETARY LANSING THE MESSAGE FROM POPE

WASHINGTON, May 16.—President Wilson plans to discuss with Secretary Lansing within the next few days the message from Pope Benedict delivered at the White House recently by Mr. Egan, the apostolic delegate, tending to the continuance of friendly relations between Germany and the United States and indirectly bearing on the possibility of bringing about general peace in Europe.

Officials said today that while there were no definite developments toward peace, the president was following the question very carefully.

CASE AGAINST RIGGS BANK

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The government today developed its case in court against the three officers of the Riggs National bank, charged with perjury in swearing that the bank had not engaged in stock transactions. W. L. Lammond, bookkeeper for a downtown local brokerage house with which the government expects to show the bank did deal in the stock business and Milton E. Alles, vice president of the bank, were questioned about the alleged connection between the brokers and the bank.

Mr. Lammond identified several entries taken from the broker's ledger showing sales and purchases of stock which were under a general hearing of "Riggs National bank."

GARAGES INSPECTED

STATE OFFICER NOTIFIED SOME OWNERS THAT CHARGES MUST BE MADE

Chief Edward F. Saunders, of the local fire department and Officer Fred Flynn of the state police made a tour of inspection of garages in this city this morning for the purpose of ascertaining if the owners are living up to the letter of the law. Some of the places were public garages while the others are private.

In the majority of the cases the garages were found to be in good condition and they were passed while in others the conditions were such that the riot act was read to the owners. In one place especially Officer Flynn notified the owner that he would have to make changes and make them very quickly or he would be brought into court.

One of the places visited was the garage in the yard of the Merrimack Mfg. Co. where a 6000 gallon gasoline tank has been installed.

Chief Saunders Will Attend

Chief Saunders of the fire department will attend the regular monthly meeting of the Chiefs' club in the Revere house in Boston tomorrow. The business session will follow the dinner, after which an address will be delivered by a speaker of prominence.

SPECIALTIES IN DEMAND

DEALINGS ACTIVE AT OPENING - MEXICANS STRONG - TRADING FELL AFTER NOON

NEW YORK, May 16.—Specialties, particularly the war group and motor issues, were in further demand on the renewal of trading on the stock exchange today. Dealings were active and diversified with free absorption of large individual offerings. Gains of 1 to almost 2 points were registered by Crucible Steel, Studebaker, Westinghouse, Industrial Alcohol, American Zinc and National Lead, while Williams-Ostland scored a new high record on its four point advance to 215. Mexicans also were strong. American Smelting rising briskly. New York Central, Canadian Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Erie, Norfolk & Western and U. S. Steel gained substantial fractions. Profit taking in enlarged volume contributed to the irregular reactions of the first hour, leading rails, U. S. Steel and some of the prominent specialties falling under yesterday's final prices. The reversal was checked in part by advances in other parts of the list. Mercantile Marines regaining some of the recent losses and with a further advance in Crucible proving strong offsetting features. Indications of renewed foreign liquidations were not lacking. Bonds were steady. Trading fell away in the afternoon, a spurt in Can. issues furnishing the only diversion of that dull period. Specialties and copper showed greater heaviness and the list as a whole was disposed to yield.

Industrial Alcohol and shares of the cotton carriers were active and strong in the final hour, when leading issues made up part of their mid-day declines. The closing was irregular.

COSTELLO WILL CONTEST

Continued

At the opening of yesterday's session Mrs. Trider resumed her testimony saying Rev. Dr. St. John Chambré had made statements to her in relation to her sister, Mrs. Costello, to the effect that she had accused someone of robbing her.

"Was Mrs. Costello satisfied with her servants?"

"Never," she always claimed they troubled her."

"Did you ever help her get new servants?"

"Yes sir."

"Did Mrs. Costello ever speak to you about her talking with the dead?"

"Yes, she did. At one time she said she saw her deceased brother and spoke to him. This brother was Matthew and he had been dead about a year."

"How soon was it after Mr. Costello's death that she talked in that way?"

"About five or six years. At one time Mrs. Costello told me that one of our sisters who was dead, had come to her door and knocked, and after being admitted into the house, she held a conversation."

"Witness said that Mrs. Costello claimed she had had several conversations with her husband after his death, and he always complained about smelling coffee and cigar smoke."

"On other occasions, she pointed her husband out to me, but I failed to see him," continued Mrs. Trider.

"Did your sister talk to you about seeing the devil?"

"Yes, she told me on one occasion that she gave a certain sum of money for St. Anthony's bread, and later she saw the devil."

She said Mrs. Costello was in bed when she saw the devil. She covered herself up in order to see what the devil would do.

"How often did she tell that story?"

"Several times."

Mrs. Trider also stated her sister told her the devil informed her he would come for her in a year and one day if she let out an outcry.

"Did she ever talk about Christ being before her?"

"Yes, she claimed Christ walked around her several times."

"My sister told me she had seen Christ hanging on a cord."

"Did you ever contradict her?"

"Yes, and she became enraged."

"Did she say anything about where Mrs. Costello should be buried after her death?"

"Yes, she wanted her buried in the Costello lot."

"Did she ever say 'Who is that standing behind you'?"

"Yes, several times."

"Did she ever talk to herself?"

"Yes, often."

"Would that be when she was alone?"

"Yes; she would talk and when she said funny things, she laughed and clapped her hands."

"Do you remember her talking of hearing things?"

"Yes, she would say, 'Do you hear that cracking; do you hear this, do you hear him coming?'"

"Did she talk at any time of hearing voices?"

"Yes."

Mrs. Trider then claimed her sister told her she was not a member of the family, and she was endeavoring all the time to locate her 'real mother.'

"How did she talk about your father?"

"Sometimes very good and sometimes very bad."

"Did she ever speak about mines in Nova Scotia?"

"Yes, after the death of Mr. Costello. She claimed her land in Nova Scotia contained coal, iron, copper, gold, oil and other ores."

"Did she ever go to Nova Scotia?"

"Yes, every spring."

"Do you remember your sister writing to Thomas W. Lawson in relation to her mines?"

"Yes."

"Did Mrs. Costello ever speak of a stone quarry?"

"Yes, she admired a place about two miles from our home in Nova Scotia."

"Do you remember a certain pillow case?"

"Yes, she carried papers and letters in it."

"Did Mrs. Costello state how much she claimed her mines were worth?"

"Yes, about $50,000."

"Did you ever hear her talk about a fever?"

"Yes; she claimed she could see through the ground with it."

"Did you ever look through it?"

"No sir."

"Did she ever attempt to sell the machine?"

"Yes; she went to several places to sell the machine. One year she went away every week. At one time she claimed it was on exhibition in Boston. She claimed the machine was worth $50."

"How much did she expect to get for the machine?"

"$150,000, but she claimed her nephew broke up the sale."

"Did she ever prepare some kind of medicine for sale after her husband's death?"

"Yes."

"Did she ever visit fortune tellers?"

"Yes, sometimes twice a week, and when she returned to her home she stated the fortune teller had informed her she would marry the second time. She also claimed she was informed she was being robbed."

"Do you remember anything about a Hindoo charm?"

"Yes, she claimed the charm would stop her cancer from bleeding; this charm was owned by a Mrs. Wilson."

"Did she say anything about studying mesmerism?"

"Yes, she had books to that effect."

"Did she ever talk about the books?"

"Yes, she said she was regulating her conduct according to the books."

Mrs. Trider told of her sister saying to her that a man to whom she was engaged to be married had written her a letter, stating he was 'bored,' and wanted $500, and instead of sending him the money she gave him up. "She told me," continued the witness, "that she had purchased stocks amounting to $2000 from him, and that he stayed at her house a short time. She had purchased a blue dress and aprons with large pockets and she said she was going to wear them on the day of her marriage and later would use the pockets for gold nuggets she would pick up in Alaska. She also claimed the revel

$50,000 FIRE IN BOSTON

Chemical Explosions Endangered Lives of Firemen—Ladderman Climbed 80 Feet to Make Vents

BOSTON, May 17.—During a fire which damaged a building at the corner of Broad and High streets, in a wholesale business district early today a series of chemical explosions endangered the lives of the firemen who fled several times to places of safety. Some of them worked under heat so intense that hose lines were turned on them and they had great difficulty in holding their footing. One ladderman climbed 80 feet on an extension ladder mounting through a gauntlet of flame, smoke and water that obscured him from sight of those below so long at times that two other firemen were sent after him. He succeeded finally in making vents in the windows on the sixth floor without injury, and through these water was poured on the blaze. The Wright Illustrating & Engraving Co., the Dodge, Haley Co., dealers in iron and steel, and the Wireless Specialty Apparatus Co., suffered the principal damage, which was estimated at $50,000.

TROUBLES OF PRESIDENT

Wilson Reviews His Course—Kept Awake Nights Trying to Keep U. S. at Peace With World

WASHINGTON, May 17.—President Wilson last night made public a frank and intimate review of his three years in the white house and his impressions of foreign and domestic problems, delivered confidentially before Washington correspondents gathered at the National Press club early today.

He spoke of the difficulties of the presidency, and particularly of the motives, which have guided his handling of the European situation. Impressions of public men as a class were given frankly by the president. He also discussed the relations of the newspapers to the affairs of the nation and sounded a warning that false information about foreign affairs was more than likely to lead to trouble.

The president's speech as originally delivered was read by him carefully before it was made public, but no important portions were eliminated and the wording was not changed substantially.

Following is the speech, in part:

Forecast Was Verified

"I am both glad and sorry to be here. Glad because I am always happy to be with you, and know and like so many of you, and sorry because I have to make a speech. One of the leading traits of you gentlemen of the press is your inordinate desire to hear other men talk, to draw them out on all occasions, whether they wish to be drawn out or not.

"I was thinking as I was looking forward to coming here this evening of that other occasion when I stood very nearly at the threshold of the duties that I have since been called upon to perform, and I was going over in my mind the impressions that I then had, by way of forecast of the duties of president, and comparing them with the experiences that have followed. I must say that the forecast has been very largely verified and that the impressions I had then have been deepened rather than weakened.

"You may recall that I said then that I felt constantly a personal detachment from the presidency; that one thing that I resented, when I was not performing the duties of the office, was being reminded that I was the president of the United States.

Would Wear False Whiskers

"I felt toward it as a man feels toward a great function which, in working hours, he is obliged to perform, but which, out of working hours, he is glad to get away from and almost forget and resume the quiet let the storm pass, and then, when it is all over, have the reckonings?"

"Knowing that from both these points of view the passion of America was for peace, I was, nevertheless, aware that America is one of the nations of the world, not only, but one of the chief nations of the world—a nation that grows more and more powerful almost in spite of herself; that grows morally more and more influential even when she is not aware of it; and that if she is to play the part which she most covets it is necessary that she should act more or less from the point of view from the rest of the world.

"If I cannot retain my moral influence over a man except by occasionally knocking him down, if that is the only basis upon which he will respect me, then for the sake of his soul I have got occasionally to knock him down."

Choosing the Time to Act

"You know how we have read in the life of Ralph Connor's stories of western life in Canada? That all his sky pilots are ready for a fracas at any time, and how the ultimate salvation of souls of their parishioners depends upon their using their fists occasionally.

"If a man will not listen to you quietly in a seat, sit on his neck and make him listen; just as I have always maintained, particularly in view of certain experiences of mine, that the shortest road to a boy's moral sense is through his fist.

"So I say that I have been aware that, in order to do the very thing that we are proudest of the ability to do, there might come a time when we would have to do it in a way that we would prefer not to do it, and the great burden on my spirits, gentlemen, has been that it was left up to me to choose when that time came.

"Can you imagine a thing more calculated to keep a man awake at night than that? Because, just because I did not feel that I was the whole thing and was aware that my duty was a duty of interpretation, how could I be sure that I had the right elements of information by which to interpret truly?"

Thought May Be Bandits

"Now, that is where the experience that I foregathered from the domestic matters I think I can in most cases come pretty near a guess where the thought of America is going, but in foreign affairs the chief element is where action is going on in other parts of the world and not where thought is going in the United States.

"Therefore, I have several times taken the liberty of urging upon you gentlemen not yourselves to know more than the state department knows about foreign affairs. Some of you have shown a singular degree of omniscience, and as I have been reported, as understood in administrative circles, which I have not heard of until I read the newspapers.

"I am constantly taken by surprise in regard to decisions which are said to be my own, and this gives me an uncomfortable feeling that some providence is at work which I have had no communication at all.

"Now, that is pretty dangerous, gentlemen, because it happens that remarks start fires. There is tinder lying everywhere, not only on the other side of the water, but on this side of the water, and I speak of sparks may be responsible for something of a great deal worse than burning a town on the Mexican border.

"Thoughts may be bandits. Thoughts may be raiders. Thoughts may be invaders. Thoughts may be disturbers of international peace, and when you reflect upon the importance of our country keeping out of the present war, you will know what tremendous elements we are all dealing with.

All in the Same Boat

"We are all in the same boat. If somebody does not keep the processes of peace going, if somebody does not keep their passions disengaged, by what impartial judgment and suggestion is the world to be aided to a solution, when the whole thing is over? If you are in a conference in which you know nobody is disinterested, how are you going to make a plan? I tell you this, gentlemen, the only thing that saves the world is the little handful of disinterested men that are in it.

"Now, I have found a few disinterested men. I wish I had found more. I can name two or three men with whom I have conferred again and again and again, and I have never caught them by an inadvertence (thinking about themselves, for their interests, and I lie to those men as you would tie to an anchor.

"Men who have no axes to grind! Men who have no axes to grind! They would give their lives for it and never care whether anybody heard that they had given their lives for it; willing to die in obscurity if only they might serve! Those are the men, and nations, like those men, are the nations that are going to serve the world and save it.

NEW HAMPSHIRE SCHOOL SUPER-INTENDENT SAYS HAND MUST BE DEVELOPED WITH BRAIN

"Pioneer Home Industries and Their Educational Significance," was the subject of an interesting talk by George H. White, assistant superintendent of schools of New Hampshire before members of Molly Varnum chapter, D.A.R., at the Spaulding house yesterday afternoon. He emphasized the need and necessity of developing the hand as well as the brain in the proper and best methods of education. He said that in the present-day education too much effort is being devoted to the development of the brain, but we are slowly but surely returning to a serious consideration of hand as well as brain development. In the effort properly to educate the coming generation.

As an example of what old time education and work did for the people of this country, the speaker gave an interesting word-picture of conditions at an old fashioned New England farm a half century ago. He showed how the old method of haying, butter making, manufacture of maple sugar, soap making and all of the other work generally carried out by our grandfathers and grandmothers not only called into use physical efforts but also demanded brain power as well, thus developing both in an equal and sane manner. Practical, purposeful work, the kind that had individuality to it, was what helped very materially in education, said the speaker. The brain cannot reach its maximum power unless we have ed-

HEAVY DAMAGE BY RAINS TO HELP BUSINESS MEN

Street Cave-ins, Cellars Flooded, Trains Held Up by Washouts in Rochester and Vicinity

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 17.—Thousands of dollars damage has been done in Rochester and vicinity by heavy rains and cloudbursts of the past 48 hours. Street cave-ins occurred in various parts of the city, hundreds of cellars are flooded, trains on branches of the New York Central and Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh are still held up by washouts and service on both urban and interurban lines is more or less disrupted. Flood conditions also developed on the Erie canal and the Genesee river rose three feet. With the cessation of the downpour early this morning conditions were expected to improve, although the flood of water up the valley will send the river higher and the crest may not be reached until tomorrow.

Sixty feet of the Erie canal embankment near Mount Morris went out last night, causing the cancellation of train service on the Erie between that town and Rochester. The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western tracks between Mount Morris and Groveland, and the Pennsylvania tracks between Mount Morris and Piffard are under water and traffic has been abandoned. A cloudburst at Brockport caused considerable damage.

uated the hands as well, and to do this we must return in a measure to primitive or pioneer methods of the years gone by.

The speaker was proud to note that in New Hampshire a majority of the high schools are devoting more time and effort to the development of the hands and that it would be only after we have struck a happy adjustment of both that we could possibly expect maximum results.

TO HELP BUSINESS MEN

Pres. Wilson Commends Federal Trade Commission for Efforts in Improving Conditions

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Co-operation between the federal trade commission and business firms and commercial organizations with the object of standardizing trade is recommended by President Wilson in a letter to Edward N. Hurley, vice chairman of the commission, made public today at the White House. The president urges that the commission investigate industries and, if it finds them "unhealthy," it suggest a "practical and helpful remedy."

The president wrote to Mr. Hurley to commend him for suggestions made in a recent speech at Boston in which Mr. Hurley told of efforts being made by the commission to assist the small manufacturer and merchant in bettering his condition by helping him improve his cost accounting and bookkeeping methods.

"This is a step in the right direction and one of the main fundamentals of any successful business," said the president. "It is most important that the future success of a business man that he should know what his goods actually cost to manufacture and to sell. If he has these facts, they will enable him to present a modern balance sheet to his bank, and as a result he will be better able to obtain credit with which to expand and develop his business."

"Your suggestion that trade associations, associations of retail and wholesale merchants, commercial clubs, boards of trade, manufacturers' associations, credit associations and other similar organizations should be encouraged in every feasible way by the government, seems to me a very wise one. To furnish them with data and comprehensive information in order that they may more easily accomplish the result that they are organized for is a proper and useful government function. These associations when organized for the purpose of improving conditions in their particular industry, such as unifying cost accounting and bookkeeping methods, standardizing products and processes of manufacture, should meet with the approval of every man interested in the business progress of the country.

"Too much emphasis cannot be placed on your suggestion that materials, methods and products in industry should be standardized upon the basis of specifications drawn up in the most efficient manner with engineering societies, industrial experts and trade associations. Further standardization in our industries will not only reduce the cost of production, but assure the producer better materials and more efficient workmanship, and to the consumer the most efficient benefit resulting from not having to pay for a wide and increasing variety of products and materials. Judicious standardization also means a greater return on a given investment. Capital now tied up because of inefficient methods of production can be used effectively elsewhere.

"If we are to be an important factor in a world's markets we must be more thorough and efficient in production. The encouragement of trade associations and standardization and the resulting better cost accounting and bookkeeping methods with such concerns will go a long way toward accomplishing this end.

"It is my hope, that, in addition to the other work which the federal trade commission is doing it will ascertain the facts regarding conditions in our various industries. If it finds that an industry is not healthy, it should, after carefully considering the facts, in co-operation with the parties interested, suggest a practical and helpful remedy. In this way many of our difficult business problems might be solved.

"I am very anxious to see you continue to cooperate with the business men of the country along the lines which you are working."

JAMES W. HARRIS QUALIFIES

Haverhill Ex-Alderman Who Believed Himself a Citizen When He Was Not, Gets Final Papers

HAVERHILL, May 17.—James W. Harris, who served three two-year terms as a member of the commission government and resigned from the municipal council on inauguration day last January, because his status as a citizen had been questioned by political critics, is now a full-fledged citizen of the country, eligible to vote and to hold office, according to the ruling of the United States district court, before which he qualified at Boston Monday.

Ex-Alderman Harris became a voter in Florida 30 years ago and after returning to this city continued to vote and hold public office, not knowing that his citizenship papers received in Florida were only first papers. Now that the courts have established his status he will be urged to accept a nomination for the next election.

FOR TRADING STAMP BILL

Hearing at State House Today Was Largely Attended—Many Speakers in Favor

Special to The Sun.
STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 17.—One of the largest hearings in the state house was completely filled this morning with persons interested in the bill to prohibit the use of trading stamps, coupons, etc.
Senator James F. Cavanaugh, the petitioner for the bill, said it is presented because the United States supreme court has recently ruled that the state had the right to enact legislation of this sort. Since 1834 Massachusetts has passed several similar statutes but all of them have been overruled by the supreme court of this state and so they have not been enforced. The ruling of the federal court, however, leaves the way open for the passage of new legislation.
He said that trading stamps are held out to the public to give the idea that something is being obtained for nothing, but as a matter of fact there is no business that can be conducted on that principle. Some one always pays and the profits go, not to the retail merchants, but to the owners of the trading stamp company.
Representative Kennard, of the committee, suggested that in view of the fact that a large amount of busi-

CASEMENT AND BAILEY COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

LONDON, May 17, 4.33 p. m.—Sir Roger Casement and Daniel J. Bailey were committed for trial today for high treason. The trial is expected to be held at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing of these men on the charge of participation in the Irish rebellion which has been in progress since Monday. The date of the trial and the court before which it will be held have not yet been announced.

HEARING CONCLUDED
LONDON, May 17.—The decision as to whether Sir Roger Casement and Daniel J. Bailey must stand trial for their lives in the high court of justice on a charge of high treason is expected to be handed down late today by Sir John Dickinson, sitting as committing magistrate in the Bow street police court.

The prosecution has very little more evidence to introduce against the head of the Sinn Fein revolt and the former British soldier whom he is accused of having seduced from his allegiance. It is generally believed that the prisoners will reserve their defense for the higher court, although their lawyers have consistently refused to make any statement as to their intentions.

When the case was reopened today Constable Carter of the Royal Irish Constabulary was recalled for cross-examination at the request of the defense. The trend of the questions indicated that at the time of his arrest Bailey attempted unsuccessfully to give information to the police in regard to the projected uprising.

Carter was asked whether he had heard Bailey say after his arrest that he had a statement for the authorities and that an officer should be sent for him. The constable responded that he did not hear this, but that at another time he did hear Bailey say, "I have important information which will give you police something to do."

Russian Rifles Sent by Germany
A Russian colonel, Nicholas Belalov, who is in this country on special work for his government, identified the rifle produced in court yesterday, which was taken by a diver from the wreck of the German steamship Aud, as one made in the Russian Poulva works in 1915. The cartridges, however, were not of Russian make. The inference drawn by those in court was that part of the war materials shipped from Germany consisted of captured Russian rifles, ammunition for which was made in Germany.

Map Made in Germany
The prosecution then called Lieut. Col. Gordon, who testified that the map which Casement and his companions brought from Germany and buried in the sand was similar to those made by the German war staff. It evidently had been reproduced, the witness said, from British survey maps. There were certain spots of color about the garrisons in Ireland which were not shown on English maps. The colonel did not know what these markings on Casement's map meant.

When the court was reopened after luncheon it was disclosed that Bailey had made a statement to the police under a guarantee that he would receive "protection." Sergeant Brestwick of the Royal Irish Constabulary who was in charge of the Ardrey barracks when Bailey was brought in after his arrest, said the prisoner said to him: "I came over from America under false colors. I joined a society there, but do not want anyone to know who I am."

When told he would be detained until after the war Bailey asked whether he could go free if he told the truth. The sergeant said he could not promise him that, but he would guarantee him protection.

Subsequently Bailey asked that District Inspector Bricker be sent for immediately, insisting that the next day would be too late.

This was on April 23, Easter Sunday. Bricker went to Bailey, who, after receiving a guarantee of protection, told the inspector the name of the boat which he said was to land arms the next day.

Inspector Bricker testified Bailey had asked that he be guaranteed against punishment, but was informed that the only guarantee which could be given was of protection. Bailey then told him he testified that a Wilson-liner captured by the Germans at the beginning of the war, was to put into Tralee the next morning or perhaps that night, to land 20,000 rifles, more than 1,000,000 rounds of ammunition, ten machine guns ready for ac-

BOSTON, May 17.—The United States cruiser San Francisco, now serving as a mine laying ship, was aground on a shoal in Nantucket sound for several hours early today in a gale and heavy rain during which it was reported she lost a whale boat containing eight members of her crew. The San Francisco floated later without assistance and was not greatly damaged. # GAMBLING DEN RAIDED

As a result of one of the biggest gambling raids made in years by the local police 29 men were arraigned before Judge Enright this morning in police court and fined $10 each. All appealed. John F. Carney, charged with maintaining a gambling nuisance and his case continued for one week. All of the arrested men were represented by George F. Toy, with the exception of two, for whom D. J. Donahue appeared.

The raid was made at 37 Hurd street late last night and $1750 in money beside dice and cards were seized by the police. The arresting officers were Inspector John Walsh, Sergeants David Petrie and Samuel Bigelow. Special Officer J. H. Clark, Patrolmen Thomas O'Sullivan, P. Dwyer, P. Noonan, James Boyle and Charles Sharkey.

The police claim they have known of the existence of the gambling house for some time, but that it was difficult to make a successful move against the place on account of the precaution taken by the proprietor to protect every person who entered.

The "joint" was located in an upper story and was conducted on a "club" plan. A keeper was located at the street door to watch for the police and also to allow "members" of the club to enter.

The joint took on every aspect of a club, every money, social, privileges were enjoyed while gambling was not in progress. In the room there was a piano, two pool tables and several card tables.

After watching the place for several weeks the police decided that a rainy night, such as last night, was propitious for a move against the place, and accordingly the officers started out on their mission.

Arriving in Hurd street they found nobody guarding the door. After waiting a few minutes, it is said, a young man came along and entered the door while the officers were in hiding, and as soon as he stepped inside the door he was followed by the sleuths. On reaching the gambling apartment, the raiders found several men gathered around one of the pool tables, and a number sitting around playing cards. Every person in the house was taken, and five or six trips were made by the police auto to remove the men to the station. The men were booked under the following occupations and addresses, but it is understood that nearly all gave false names.

CLERKS' STRIKE OFF

NEW HAVEN RAILROAD EMPLOYEES ACCEPT COMPANY'S PROPOSAL

NEW HAVEN, May 17.—The threatened strike of 2200 freight clerks on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, which had been ordered for this afternoon at 2 o'clock, has been averted. It was announced last night.

Rowland B. Mahoney, a federal commissioner of conciliation, in making the announcement, said that the wage dispute "was happily adjusted and that the men would continue work in accordance with their acceptance of the proposition presented by General Manager C. L. Bardo of the road. Mr. Bardo's proposition included an increase of 6 1/2 per cent in wages. Mr. Mahoney said:

"While all that the men demanded was not conceded by the management, a substantial increase in wages and some appreciable benefits in working conditions were granted. The acceptance by the committee was unanimous, and, when decided upon, was made in the best possible spirit, anguring well for the permanence of pleasant relations between the employers and the men."

"I cannot speak too highly of the consideration exhibited in a most difficult and perplexing situation by the representatives of both sides. Perhaps the most complete presentation of the settlement is set forth in the letter which the committee of the men addressed to me for delivery to Mr. Bardo as follows:

"After carefully considering Mr. Bardo's proposition of yesterday, as compared with the one which, through you, he submitted today and which informed you of our decision, we have decided in the interest of peace and in furtherance of an amicable adjustment of the controversy to withdraw our rejection of the proposition submitted yesterday by Mr. Bardo, and to accept the same."

"While naturally not entirely satisfied with many of the features and provisions of the proposition which we thus accept, we deem it preferable to forego certain advantages, which we believe we ought to have and receive, rather than precipitate a commercial and industrial struggle, which inevitably interfere with the business prosperity, not only of all the New England States, but in an appreciable degree also of the country at large."

"You are, therefore, authorized to communicate this acceptance to General Manager Bardo and to assure him that while not satisfied in all respects, we are nevertheless glad to give this example of co-operation in the effort to obviate anything that will impede the progress of either the road or the public."

CANNOT SHIP EXPORTS

Central and South American Shippers Become Manufacturers—Buy Machinery for Factories

NEW YORK, May 17.—Despairing of obtaining adequate tonnage to ship their exports and to bring to them in return needed manufactured articles from the United States, numerous big shippers of Central and South America are now buying in this country machinery with which they may turn their raw products into manufactured articles for their own trade, according to Robert Lee Dunn, secretary of the All-American association, a Pan-American trade organization with headquarters here.

One of the most extensive orders recently placed here. Mr. Dunn said, was for a complete shoe factory for Colombia, where hides for years before the war constituted one of the chief articles of export trade.

After noting further the efforts of South American countries to provide for the manufacture within their own boundaries of products hitherto exported, Mr. Dunn concludes:

"Lack of tonnage is the biggest drawback to promotion of trade. This is well illustrated by the following incident. M. J. Rigero, a wealthy land owner of Honduras, spent two weeks here recently endeavoring to sell dye wood. He found the purchasers readily enough, at good prices, but he could not arrange for transportation in quantities sufficient to meet the demands of his prospective customers. Saturday he sailed for England to close these negotiations begun in New York with English dye manufacturers for the handling of his wood. It was represented to him that despite the war there was sufficient English tonnage between Honduras and Great Britain to care for his shipments."

FAREWELL RECEPTION

MEMBERS OF LAWRENCE STREET P. M. CHURCH SAY FAREWELL TO PASTOR AND HIS FAMILY

A reception was tendered Rev. Alannah Hesford and his family at the Lawrence Street P. M. church last evening. It was a farewell reception, Mr. Hesford having been assigned at the recent conference of the Primitive Methodist church to a pastorate at Block Island, R. I.

Pleasing features of the exercises last evening were presentations of a sum of money to Mr. Hesford and a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Hesford, gifts of the church members. Charles W. Moore, chairman of the board of trustees of the church, presented the money to the pastor, while Mrs. John Buchanan presented the flowers to Mrs. Hesford.

After the presentations to the retiring pastor and his wife there were piano solos by Miss Bernice Grant, songs by David Allen and reading by Henry Leavitt. Rev. Mr. Matthews spoke of the pleasant associations he had with Rev. Mr. Hesford during the latter's pastorate in the city and wished him God-speed in his new work. Rev. Mr. Hesford briefly reviewed his pastorate here and expressed the earnest hope that the church would continue to grow in numbers and influence under the new pastor, Rev. John Singleton, who comes to Lowell from North Tiverton, R. I.

The remainder of the evening was spent socially and refreshments were served. The committee in charge of the arrangements for the reception included Charles W. Moore, Mrs. John Buchanan and E. N. Kimball.

BULLET IN HIS SPINE

SURGEONS HOPEFUL THAT HAVERRILL LAD WILL LIVE—TRYING TO DODGE SHOTS WHEN INJURED

HAVERRILL, May 17.—Clifton Metcalf, who was shot through the abdomen last Saturday night at Groveland, while trying to demonstrate to playgrounders that he could hold a revolver at his head, fire it and then dodge the bullet, will live with a 38-caliber bullet lodged in his spine, according to surgeons at the Hale hospital yesterday.

Young Metcalf was thought to have been mortally wounded when the surgeons found that the bullet had entered his abdomen and could not be located. Yesterday it was revealed, lodged in the spine, where it struck after passing through the abdomen. As the boy is resting comfortably and there is no evidence of infection from the bullet, the surgeons have decided to make no further effort to remove it.

Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way

Employees last night issued orders for a general strike of track workers on the Boston & Maine railroad. Over 150 track workers are employed during the spring and summer months on the road in Lowell. A number of these went on strike two weeks ago and the ranks left open were filled by other laborers.

Wallace G. Parkin, general agent of the road in this city, says that the strike will not materially affect conditions in the local yards. The work of the men is confined almost wholly to track repairs.

The trackmen of the Boston & Maine road are working for a wage of $1.50 for a day of 10 hours. The men ask $2 for 10 hours. In large centres, however, the men receive $1.50 for 10 hours and ask $2.10. Track foremen receive from $2.50 to $3.40 for a 10-hour day.

Do you know that your local druggists, Liggett's Drug Store, Riker-Jaynes Drug Store, Falls & Burkinshaw and The Lowell Pharmacy, Routhier & Delisle, and others, have a non-secret constitutional remedy known as Vinol which they guarantee for just such conditions. # NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Waterways Measure Amended— Bill to Abolish Port Directors and Harbor Commission

BOSTON, May 17.—By a rollcall vote at 115 to 75 the Massachusetts house of representatives yesterday passed the bill to abolish the board of harbor and land commissioners and the directors of the port of Boston and to establish the Massachusetts waterways commission. The consolidation for which this measure provides is a part of Gov. McCall's general plan for a reduction of the number of state commissions. There was an extended debate on the measure. Of a variety of amendments offered those of Mr. Fitz-Henry Smith of Boston, to insure the performance of work for terminals and to create superintendents of engineering and commerce; of Mr. Sawyer of Ware, to insure the completion of the present contracts to fix the salary of the chairman at $500 and of the other two members at $300; of Mr. Kearney, to insure the completion of the South Boston dry dock and the East Boston improvements, were adopted.

The only amendment which got a rollcall was that of Mr. Smith of Provincetown to make the salary of the chairman $3500 and of the other members $3000. It was rejected, 87 to 32.

Insanity Board Bill

The bill "to abolish the state board of insanity and to establish the Massachusetts commission on mental diseases" was ordered to a third reading. A motion expressing the opinion of the house in support of an amendment to the national constitution to permit national legislation on marriage and divorce was defeated. Another lengthy debate occurred on the senate's amendments to the so-called "delinquent children" bill. The question was on concurring with the senate amendment, striking out the provision for a jury trial and the provision that the first commitment may be for not more than three months. The house concurred, 134 to 77.

A resolve appropriating $500 for a monument to Chevalier de Saint Sauveur, an officer of the French fleet sent to Boston to help the Americans in the Revolutionary War who lost his life in a riot in Boston, was passed to be engrossed after an amendment authorizing the governor to appoint a commission to carry out the provisions of the resolve was adopted.

Senatorial Bill Admitted

The house concurred with the senate in suspending the rules to admit the bill to provide that the election of United States senators shall take place on the day of the state election.

The milk bill of the state department of health, as passed by the senate, was referred to the committee on ways and means.

The conference committee on the mesne process bill reported agreement on the senate form and the report was accepted.

The house extended to May 18 the time for reporting by the special committee on commission consolidation.

The public service committee reported a bill to confirm appointments of the mayor and public safety commissioner of Cambridge.

May Veto Police Bill

Gov. McCall declared that he had not signed the bill for one day off in eight for Boston policemen when he left the state house last night, although the five days allowed him for approval or veto expired at midnight last night.

Whether the governor has prepared a veto message to go to the legislature today or has decided to allow the bill to become law without his signature will not be definitely known until the legislature meets this morning, but a veto message was predicted at the state house last night.

The bill permits the city council of Boston, with the approval of the mayor, to accept the terms of the bill any time within six months.

Signs Cripples' Aid Bill

Gov. McCall has signed the bill to provide that the state board of education shall investigate what provisions exist in Massachusetts to give special training and instruction to persons who have suffered loss of sight or loss of or injury to limb, or other severe injury, and whose earning capacity has been impaired or destroyed. The governor will present the bill to Representative John L. Monahan of South Boston.

Signs Small Loans Act

The so-called small loans act, providing that the interest and expenses on small loans shall not exceed in the aggregate 3 per cent. a month on the amount actually received by the borrower, was yesterday signed by Gov. McCall.

Recalled From Governor

The senate recalled from the governor the bill "relative to municipal liens for public improvements." Enactment was reconsidered. An amendment was adopted on motion of Senator Cavanagh of Everett which will, if the bill becomes law, restore the law affecting municipal liens that existed prior to 1913.

The senate also recalled from the governor the bill authorizing the public service commission to order reasonable extensions of street railway lines; enactment was reconsidered, and an amendment offered by Senator Gordon of Springfield limiting the authority of the commission to those locations previously accepted by the companies was adopted.

The committee on ways and means reported that the bill to provide a new method for the distribution of corporation franchise taxes and to provide for reimbursement to cities and towns for one-third of the amount of taxes lost on account of soldiers' exemptions ought to pass.

A perfecting amendment was adopted on the bill to provide for the taxation of certain forest products, and it was sent to the house for concurrence.

Discuss Reckless Driving

The best way to "put teeth" into the law regarding the reckless driving of motor vehicles was discussed yesterday at a conference on the Allen bill between the legislative committee on roads and bridges, Col. William D. Schier, chairman of the Massachusetts highway commission, and representatives of various associations.

Senator Clark of Brockton declared that drastic measures be taken to make it impossible for a drinking man to secure a license to operate a car. He and Col. Schier disagreed as to whether the court records should be taken as absolute proof. Col. Schier said these records are often defective, declaring that investigation by his board has frequently proved them wrong.

J. T. Sullivan, representing the Bay State Automobile Association, complained that the Allen bill removes all discretion from the highway commission.

Col. Schier stated that many men have been arrested charged with driving while under the influence of liquor when the real offense consisted of being impatient to a policeman.

The Allen bill was favored by its author, Representative Allen of Newton, and by Lawrence G. Brooks, representing the Highway Safety League.

Income Tax Hearing

The senate ways and means committee held a hearing yesterday on the income tax bill. Prof. Charles J. Bullock, Charles A. Andrews, Representative George P. Drury, Representative Allison G. Catheron, Tax Commissioner Trefry and Representative Joseph F. Stone were among the proponents.

Prof. Bullock said that in his opinion the income tax bill would result in additional revenue to the state, but wealthy towns with abnormally low tax rates would eventually lose by it. These towns gained an unfair advantage years ago through "connivance" of assessors and wealthy residents of the state and cannot hope to retain such an advantage "under any popular form of government," he said. Tax Commissioner Trefry estimated the probable cost of collection of the proposed income tax at $125,000 the first year.

Representative Samuel H. Mildram said the bill will not accomplish the purpose for which it is intended, for half of the intangible property in the state will be exempted from taxation under its provisions. Representative William H. Souther stated that the cost of collecting the tax will be far in excess of $125,000. He favored a state-wide referendum of the measure. The provisions for compulsory returns contained in the bill were attacked by Representative George M. Worrall.

NEARTHE INDIAN RELICS
Benjamin Lincoln of Norton Finds Implements Many Believe Were Used by King Philip's Indians
NORTON, May 17.—Benjamin Lincoln, whose farm is on the Bay road, East Norton, unearthed yesterday a number of Indian relics which strengthen the contention of many that the borders of Wampanoag lake were once the campground of King Philip's Indians.

Mr. Lincoln was plowing in a section of his farm which had never been utilized for planting purposes when the blade turned up a quantity of the relics.
Among the relics found were a stone mortar, several spearheads, arrow points of flint and a dish with a rather skillfully carved handle. Yesterday's find is regarded as one of the most valuable for years.

A short way from Mr. Lincoln's farm is a den, formed by two massive rocks, which is known as King Philip's cave. It is said that the earliest settlers found every evidence in and about the shelter that King Philip and his Indians used it while on fishing excursions to Wampanoag lake.

DESPAIRING WOMAN Now Happy Mother

Mrs. Stephens Did Not Need
The Surgical Operation.

Potok, Ill.—"I had been married five years and my greatest desire was to become a mother. The doctor said I never would have a child unless I was operated on for female troubles and I had given up all hopes when a friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly for sometime, and I am in better health than ever, and have a healthy baby girl. I praise your Vegetable Compound for my baby and my better health. I want all suffering women to know that it is the sure road to health and happiness."—Mrs. GEORGE STEPHENS, R. F. D. No. 3, Potok, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence.

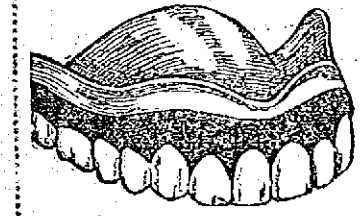

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

All of the men were bailed out after being booked. Henry J. O'Dowd, going security for the majority of them. This morning when their cases were called, the men were led into the courtroom and lined alongside the witness stand, where all pleaded guilty. Deputy Downey recommended a fine of $1 for each offender, but Judge Enright passed up the recommendation and imposed a fine of $10 on each man. Henry J. O'Dowd again went security for the men, when George F. Toye entered an appeal on their behalf. The case of John F. Carney was then called and a continuance granted.

Non-Support Case

Peter Bruley, who pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with failing to support his wife and two children was sentenced to the house of correction for a term of four months. He appealed.

Fined $10

On the evening of May 3 Frank Kelly and a companion named Merrill were walking down Gorham street near the East Chelmsford line when they were stoned by some boys and called vile names. Both Kelly and Merrill went back to the gang, after Kelly had been hit in the leg with a stone and Kelly punched one John A. Dix in the face and knocked him to the ground. A short time later Dix was taken to St. John's hospital where it was found that he was suffering from a fracture of the jaw.

This morning in police court Dix appeared as the complainant against Kelly. He said that he was standing on Gorham street with two other boys when Kelly came back and attacked him. He said some of the boys who were with him might have thrown stones at the defendant, but that he didn't. Kelly, he said, didn't accuse him of doing anything, but just walked up to him and punched him in the face.

When Kelly was put on the stand he told a story that put a different aspect on the case. He said that on the night in question he went to his cousin's home in East Chelmsford to get some eggs and that when he was returning home he and his companion, Merrill, were called names by boys standing near a store in Gorham street. He walked back to the boys, he said, and gave them warning to stop and then continued on his way home. He had gone no more than 50 feet, he said, when he was struck in the leg by a stone thrown by one of the boys. He admitted going back and striking Dix, but said he did so because Dix stepped out to hit him first. As Judge Enright has received several complaints of boys hanging out in the vicinity of where the assault took place, cursing and stoning people, he was inclined to believe the story told by Kelly and he imposed a fine of $10, after warning the defendant not to take the law into his own hands, should anything of the kind occur again.

Given Six Months

A traveling man named William H. Andrews or Andrus was sentenced to six months in jail for leading a young girl astray. The case caused much indignation among those who heard the evidence.

Other Cases

Seth Glover who was released only yesterday after being found guilty of drunkenness was in again this morning and Judge Enright ordered him committed to jail for a month. A jail sentence of one month was also imposed on John Collins, who stole a pair of shoes from a room in a boarding house in Appleton street. Collins was put to work by the owner of the house yesterday hanging wall paper, but he soon tired of his job when he spotted the shoes. He was arrested trying to dispose of them.

The case of Jacob Charkoski, charged with collecting junk without a license was placed on file and John Sasse, charged with failing to send one of his children to school for 17 school sessions prior to April 17, had his case continued a week.

The case against Leo Sherlock, a Dracut milkman, for having milk bottles in his possession which belonged to other dealers, was dismissed.

REV. BROTHER PETER, C.F.X., DEAD

Aged Member of Xaverian Order Victim of Heart Failure

Sketch of His Long Career—Had Been Stationed at Lowell

THE LATE BROTHER PETER, C.F.X.

DANVERS, May 17.—Brother Peter, the oldest member of the Xaverian Brotherhood in the United States, was stricken with heart failure yesterday at Beverly and died in 40 minutes. Brother Peter, who was stationed at St. John's preparatory school in this town, had gone to Beverly to secure flowers for the chapel altar.

Brother Peter, the oldest member of the Xaverian Brotherhood in the United States, celebrated the golden jubilee of his entrance into religion at St. John's preparatory college, Danvers, Mass., on April 25th, 1914. Brother Peter was born at Silver-mine, County Tipperary, Ireland, in January 10, 1837. His name in the world was Martin Gleason. At the age of twenty, he emigrated to the United States and settled in Cincinnati. He resided here for some years, when, feeling a desire to devote himself to the work of Christian education, he applied for admission into the Xaverian congregation, which had been recently established in Louisville, and was accepted as a postulant on March 23, 1864.

The brothers at that time had charge of most of the parochial schools of the city. Many of them were located at a great distance from the brothers' residence and the journey to and from school, always on foot, must have been at times extremely tiresome. Add to this the inconvenience with which they had to contend, owing to a lack of proper school equipment and we have some idea of the privations which Brother Peter and his confreres underwent one-half a century ago.

His postulancy finished, he was assigned to St. John's parochial school in the eastern end of the city. Here he remained for five years, when he was changed to the school connected with the Cathedral of the Assumption, on Fourth avenue, where he remained until 1875.

In the latter year he was called to Baltimore to assist at Mount St. Joseph's college. We find him for the next four years in the vicinity of Baltimore. In 1880 he was one of four sent to establish an orphanage at West Troy, N. Y. The West Troy institution had to be relinquished after one year, and Brother Peter was again stationed as a pioneer, this time to take over the Cathedral school in Richmond, Va., which previous to this had been taught by the diocesan clergy and seminarians.

He remained in Richmond for four years, at the end of which time he was introduced to New England, being transferred to St. Patrick's school, Lowell. His sojourn here was also limited to four years, being then transferred to St. Mary's school, Lawrence. From 1888 to 1901, a period of thirteen years, Brother Peter remained in Lawrence, and his name is perhaps more closely identified with the latter city than it is with any other place where he has been. His winning personality attracted to him a host of real friends, while his zealous work in behalf of the children of the parish won the lasting gratitude of the local clergy.

In 1901, his superiors, justly thinking that his sterling qualities and religious character would act as an inspiration to the younger members of the order, called him to the mother house in Baltimore to act as assistant to the master of novices. We find him later at St. Vincent's academy, Newport News, Va.; then at St. Mary's industrial school, Baltimore, where he had charge of the junior department, and finally to St. John's at Danvers. Brother Peter's life has been an extremely useful one. His admirable tact in the management of the young children has made him wonderfully successful in this department. His care of them did not merely confine itself to the inculcating of the three R's, but education with him has always been understood in its fullest sense. Personal habits of order and cleanliness have been traits which he has always demanded from his pupils. They can testify how successful he has been in obtaining desired results along these lines.

Not alone to the class room have Brother Peter's activities been confined. Energetic by nature, his leisure hours have always been well spent in some work that would be of benefit to the community.

Old age did not change his naturally cheerful disposition. This quality, united with genuine simplicity of manner and deep piety endeared him to all who knew him.

His life, from a worldly standpoint, was uneventful. His name will not be handed down to posterity as a maker of history; the names of but few spiritual men are; but among his own religious family the beauty of his simple, prayerful life will act as an incentive in years to come. Not to these alone, however, will influence for good be restricted; the teachings and good example he has given to others during his long life will continue to bear fruit among those who knew him and his wise counsel and guidance will now be more appreciated than ever by the thousands of students to whose young lives he gave the initial impetus in righteousness and Christian virtue.

On the occasion of his golden jubilee Brother Peter was honored by the presence of Gov. Walsh and many prominent clergymen and laymen whose education was started under the benign influence of this saintly educator.

Despite the inclement weather last evening the attendance at the bazaar which is being conducted in St. Louis' parochial school for the benefit of the church was very large and the receipts of the evening were very substantial. The evening's program included numbers by Mrs. O. J. David and Arcelle Brunelle, while J. Clemond entertained with a slack wire performance. The mayor and other members of the municipal council were in attendance.

MORE PEACE TALK

A cable from Berlin, via Amsterdam, tells of an incident of the war which has not been touched on in the regular despatches. The incident in question is an interview at the front between the Kaiser and Prince von Buelow. On the surface this seems a commonplace incident, until it is remembered that von Buelow more than any other figure in Germany or in any of the other belligerent nations is mentioned persistently in connection with offers of peace. For months he has been in Switzerland, supposedly working for an ending of the war on terms that Germany could accept, and great significance is attached to his conference with the Kaiser, on the latter's invitation. The prince has often been mentioned as the man who will finally put Germany's vague offers into concrete shape.

Contrasted with this is the remarkable speech of President Poincare, who declared at Nancy a few days ago that Germany could have peace any time she wants—by suing for it and accepting the allies' terms. This speech does not betoken an early peace, for Germany is not exhausted by any means, but, after all, the speeches of the rulers do not shape the events of war or reflect true conditions. Should peace come tomorrow, the speeches of the various governments today might breathe the defiance and determination of the first days of the war.

To return to the cable above mentioned; it says that all of the belligerent nations are now talking peace—and we know that the neutrals are doing so. Surely all of the peoples want an end to the horror, and though they may not yet agree on the terms, a hope is born that the preliminary stages of peace negotiations have been entered upon. The war has shattered the nerves of the world and despite the blind obstinacy of the governments, mankind would be glad to accept a peace that, while destroying no nation, would guarantee peace in the world for many years to come. We hope the latest rumors about von Buelow will prove more reliable than others in which he was the principal figure.

LOCAL HEALTH EXHIBIT

Through the co-operation of the board of trade, the Middlesex Women's club, the Lowell Guild and the Social Service league, banded in a committee known as the anti-tuberculosis council, Lowell is at present having a health exhibit that deserves the fullest support and patronage of the public. Material for the campaign has been furnished by the state, and the movement is one that has reached every corner of the country. It is not the first health exhibit held in this city but it is the most complete and through recent agitation and educational campaigns the citizens of Lowell are more apt to receive positive benefits from it than from any previous movement of the sort.

This health exhibit comes very fittingly after the "clean-up" movement of which it really is part. The clean-up features were meant mostly for the exterior; the health exhibit is meant for the interior. The clean-up and paint-up appeal was for a beautiful and clean city; this appeal is for a healthy city and for everything that will create a fit citizenship.

Among the special features that are meant for the entire citizen body and not for any one class or group are: Lectures and object lessons in hospital administration; the care and feeding of babies, more especially in the summer season; the safeguarding of food that is for sale against dirt and germs; displays on the housing problem with regard to overcrowding, ventilation, cleanliness, etc. Not one of these things but concerns Lowell as it concerns all cities, and the full value should be applied to local conditions during the four days of the special campaign.

If the displays and the other features have their full effect on Lowell, it will not be hard to apply the lessons and to see in what we are remiss. We will then be able to go through our congested districts and make provisions for our teeming population that will compel a higher standard of living not only there but throughout the entire city.

DRILL FIELD—WHEN?

As usual, the annual preparations for the high school field day include some strenuous and picturesque drill practice on the commons, for want of a more appropriate place in which to hold them. The marching through the streets and the fine spirit shown by the pupils must impress on many citizens the conviction that Lowell should not have a new high school without some provision having been made for drills and school athletics. Unfortunately the school site, while admirable in many ways, does not allow for recreation and drill grounds and the school will either have to use the commons, hire private parks whenever the open dates will permit, or else secure a school field. Which is the better arrangement, from the educational point of view?

One can name off hand a half-dozen cities of importance not far removed from Lowell where the high schools have such grounds, and the contrast here must be to our discredit when visiting teams play here against the local school, or when we hold the annual field day. Whether by private generosity—and there is an opportunity for some enterprising benefactor—or by municipal provision, a high school field should be provided before the completion of the new institution.

How about the development of that first street "stadium" on the plan suggested in detail some months ago? Here is a site convenient to the centre of the city and to the school, the natural advantages of which are obvious. Without a great outlay, the city might follow up the completion of the new road by a scheme of improvement that would give Lowell a beautiful park on the river bank while providing a school play and drill field second to none in New England.

STRIKING A SNAG

In sounding the site for the new high school with the object of planning the foundations, it was found that some of the land has been superimposed on marshy soil, and the presence of water will necessitate deeper foundations than were at first contemplated. It is bad news, both to the officials of the city and to the public, for ultimately it means the spending of more money. How much more, it is for time to determine. A building is as sound as its foundations and whatever the cost the foundations of the new structure will have to be made secure beyond the possibility of danger. As frequently expressed, it was the fear of just such possibilities and the memory of past municipal undertakings of the kind that made The Sun preach caution in the making of estimates, and it may yet be that all concerned will regret the tendency towards elaboration and lavish expenditure in planning the building. At any rate, the discovery of trouble at this early stage should impress on all the need for the greatest precaution in future planning.

CURE, NOT PUNISHMENT

One of the speakers at the national conference of charities and corrections held in Buffalo a few days ago declared that short terms in the penitentiary do not cure the vice or reduce the number of its victims. As an example of their ineffectiveness he told of a man who had been before the Buffalo courts 160 times, with every prospect that he will be back to lengthen the record. The tragedy of this method is apparent, and if it were not too serious for mirth one could well laugh at a system that has a ludicrous side. Punishment for drunkenness is too often punishment for the family and a vacation without avail for the victim. When shall legislators see that what is needed is a cure and not a penalty when the will is paralyzed and the moral courage destroyed utterly?

STREETS AND HOMES

Claiming that the unsanitary and filthy condition of a street in Lawrence has kept tenements thereon vacant for months at a time, members of a citizens' club of that city have appeared before the city council and asked that the street be paved and otherwise improved. This is greatly in contrast with conditions in some streets of Lowell where a filthy condition bespeaks crowded tenements. Whether it is better to have dirty streets keeping the homes empty or full homes keeping the street filthy depends on the point of view; but neither condition is desirable. Lawrence would do well to respond to the appeal and to ask in turn that the citizens' club use its influence to see that the street once put in condition be kept so. Here, we are fortunate, perhaps, in having more people than homes, and so there are few empty tenements, no matter how unsightly the street may be.

STREET OILING

The moisture of yesterday was welcomed by those who live on the dusty streets which the city oil tanks have not yet reached. A week or so ago the streets had more than the usual supply of dust and the high wind caused veritable sand storms without the

BOY SCOUTS' MEETING

PREPARING FOR A RALLY DAY ON JUNE 3—ALL LOCAL TROOPS MAKING PLANS

The Boy Scouts are preparing for a rally day to be held on June 3, and nearly all the local troops are making preparations for the event. Special scout stunts are to be given by the various troops on this day, and one of the troops will have a wireless outfit in operation.

Rev. Victor Bigelow of Andover, well known in scout circles, has accepted an invitation to be present and all the boys connected with his former troop will be glad of the opportunity to see their old scoutmaster in line.

Scoutmaster William Ratcliffe of the Chelmsford street Baptist church has a group of boys who are progressing most satisfactorily in scout work. He is an efficient leader with the boys who are now getting some excellent training under his care. The boys are an excellent asset to the church they are connected with and the pastor has realized this on more than one occasion. Mr. Ratcliffe is ably assisted by Assistant Scoutmaster Carl Hilton, who has had considerable experience in the work, having been connected with the Ellet church troop during Mr. Bigelow's pastorate. The two leaders are making a splendid effort in building up a troop of efficient and clever scouts.

The scouts will also take part in the health exhibit which takes place this week in Middlesex hall.

WATERWAYS COMMITTEE

ANOTHER LETTER SENT TO SEVERAL CORPORATIONS URGING MORE FENCES

The committee on waterways has sent the following letter to several well known corporations:

Lowell, Mass., May 16, 1916.
To the Directors of Wameet Power Co., U. S. Bunting Co., U. S. Cartridge Co., Helme Electric Co., Stirling Woolen Mills, Lowell Bleachery, American Bolt Co., Waterhead Mills, Bay State Mills, Belvidere Woolen Co.

Gentlemen:—As members of a commission appointed by Mayor James J. O'Donnell for the purpose of investigating Lowell waterways and recommending measures to prevent drowning accidents, we have gone over the various locations situated on the Concord river, the Wameet Power company's canal and Hale's brook.

Before we file a report recommending that any part of these premises be adjudged dangerous under the statute, we ask that you arrange a meeting of your various representatives, with the idea of adopting a plan in which to cooperate for the better protection of water courses by homogeneous fencing.

If this is done we respectfully ask that the plan be submitted to us that we may include it in our report to the mayor.

The general erection of fencing similar to that of the U. S. Cartridge company about their property in South Lowell would prevent many accidents to the traveling public and little children when near your premises, and would be a constant safeguard to that portion of the public employed in your various corporations.

Very respectfully yours,
Jackson Palmer, Chairman,
Harry W. Howe,
Frank A. Warnock,
Commission on Waterways.

whatever to which ones were paying an adequate return according to the testimony of Robert M. Feustel, the company's expert engineer, yesterday, at the 6-cent fare hearing before the public service commission.

The expert had previously stated that, in his judgment, the charges in Lynn, Brockton, Lawrence, Salem and Beverly have paid a 7 per cent. return on capital, while those in Fall River, Lowell, Gloucester, Haverhill and Chelsea have not.

"Then this raising of fares was simply a hit-or-miss process of boosting to 6 cents everywhere," demanded Attorney Arthur G. Wadleigh for the motorists, "while on the contrary roads you did pay some attention to cost of transportation and brought your increases as close to a paying basis as you thought practicable?"

"That is true," replied Mr. Feustel. The witness also admitted that he considers there is no community of interest whatever between the lines south and those north of Boston and that they ought to be treated separately in regard to the raising of fares. The burden of support, he said, should, in his opinion, be borne by those places which do have a community of interest.

A record of the Bay State's daily receipts from May 15 to Sept. 15 in both 1914 and 1915, showing the great strength of the summer traffic on the road, was submitted by Mr. Feustel. In 1915 the average daily receipts were $24,163.33, while in the summer period there were 53 days when they exceeded $27,000 and eight when the revenue was more than $40,000. Labor day receipts were heaviest in each year, $47,379.18 in 1914 and $46,170.98 in 1915. May 18, 1915, was the lowest, with $29,330.21. The heavy July receipts indicated the need for extra equipment to handle the traffic, Mr. Feustel said.

Chairman Frederick J. Macleod made a determined effort yesterday to speed up the fare hearings and to hurry the motorists' cross-examination of the company's witnesses. He stated that the examination of witnesses ought to be entirely concluded by June 15.

A special meeting was called by the chairman for Friday morning at which all local counsel will be asked whether the present community units of the road agreed upon will be satisfactory for the presentation of local complaints.

Thick Rubber Anti-Skid Chains for Long Service

These rubber chains and the perfected United States Tire carcass construction are what make the 'Chain' Tread the most efficient, moderate priced anti-skid tire made today.

The thickness of the two chains of rubber running around the tread is what gives the extra wear of 'Chain' Treads.

The position of these rubber chains on the tread gives the remarkable traction and anti-skid qualities and additional wear, for which 'Chain' Treads are famous.

The 'Chain' is one of five United States 'Balanced' Tires which meet every motoring condition of price and use.

Ask the nearest United States Tire Dealer for your copy of the booklet, "Judging Tires," which tells how to find the particular tire to suit your needs.

BATTING AND FIELDING

Lowell Team Drops From First to Fifth in Team Batting—Springfield Leads

Lowell dropped from first to fifth place in team batting in the second week in the Eastern league race, according to averages compiled up to last Thursday evening. Springfield, New London and Lawrence are holding the top line honors. The two first teams lead the circuit in order in batting with averages of .272 and .262, respectively, while the Lawrence nine is showing the way in fielding, having an average of .853. The hitting in general showed a big improvement in the league last week, every team with the exception of Lowell increasing its former figures. The Grays, who were showing the way last week, dropped 32 points off their old figures and slid from first to a tie with Lynn for fifth honors. New Haven, Lowell, Lawrence, Bridgeport and Hartford improved in fielding. New London, Portland, Lynn and Worcester all had several points chipped off the defensive average, while Springfield stood still, clinging to the same average, .845, that it sports from week to week.

Portland has registered the greatest number of runs, 62. Springfield with one less is second in this respect. New London has made the greatest number of hits, 105, which is one more than the total output of the Springfield crew. Springfield with 26 leads in doubles and shares the top-notch honors with Bridgeport in making triples, each club sporting five three-bly raps. The Springfield clan also holds the home-run hitting honors, sporting three circuit raps. Lowell has a like number. Portland has run away from all the catchers it has worked against, having 32 steals. Lowell has used the sacrifice hit the most, having 14 intentional outs to its credit. Portland, Lynn and Hartford have benefited by the sacrifice fly on four occasions each. The table below includes all games played up to Thursday night:

Maguire and Patrolman O'Connell. They arrived at the office on Maple street at 2:30 o'clock and reported to the agent. Upon seeing the bluecoats one of the clerks yelled "The house is pinched," and all began to look for the nearest exit. "Stand still!" ordered the cops, and all remained at their desks. When the agent had recovered he inquired as to the purpose of the "invasion" and the officers replied that they came to preserve order in the event of any trouble when the clerks went out. "Why," replied the agent, "we do not expect any trouble, and the clerks have no intention of going out. They agreed last night to accept the company's offer and reported for work this morning at the usual hour." All the office help then turned their heads and enjoyed a good laugh as the cops retreated toward the "This way out" sign.

IMPORTED BOXING
NEW YORK, May 17.—Imported boxing is the latest innovation in the game of slam. Buenos Ayres, capital of the Argentine Republic, down in South America, has undertaken to foist the mitt sport on its populace, and in order to accomplish this it has been found necessary to recruit talent from another country—the United States.

DUNDIE LACES WELLS
BOSTON, May 17.—Johnny Dundee, the Italian lightweight, beat Matt Wells, the English lightweight champion, every way from the duce in a 12-round bout at the Armory A.A. last night, and won the verdict of Referee Staff Flaherty by a mile. Any other fighter but Wells, whose gameness and willingness to take everything that ever came his way has never been questioned, would have quit any time after the sixth round.

EASTERN LEAGUE COMMENT

For the third time this week J. Flavin interrupted the Eastern league schedule today. Lowell was the only city to stage a game Monday, and yesterday Portland had that honor. The weather today was even worse, and the Lowell Baseball club officials did not put out the flag announcing that there would be a game. Lowell was anxious for revenge today as the last time the team met Hartford the trouble resulting in the forfeit occurred. Weather permitting, Lowell and Hartford will come together tomorrow afternoon and a good game is promised.

Walter Lonergan, formerly with Lowell and other cities in the old New England league, reported to Manager Duffy at Portland yesterday. Lonergan is taking the place of Guy Maxwell, this year's Lowell castoff, who is suffering from ptomaine poisoning. In the few games Maxwell played with Portland he made a fine showing. Yesterday Lonergan did not secure a hit in three trips to the bat and missed two of three chances in the field, but this is undoubtedly due to lack of practice as Walter was capable of much better work only a year ago.

Alec Pearson, last year pitcher and manager of the Lawrence team, is picked by Jesse Burkett to win his share of the games this year. He is pitching better than ever and it is thought that the managerial worries hung too heavy on the genial ex-manager, who is very popular with Lawrence fans.

Bob Conley, who has played in the Lawrence outfield for the past two seasons and whose bat has cut a figure in many a game in this city, was released by Manager Burkett this week. Conley's failure to hit is the reason he was allowed to go.

Heinie Wagner, former Red Sox shortstop and now manager of the Hartford team, was in conference with the local club yesterday. He is attempting to give a good ball team. Despite the cold, rainy weather on the opening day of the season a good sized crowd turned out to see the Lowell play. The Lowell club found Bridgeport the best baseball city on the Connecticut end of the circuit. Hartford, they say, was the worst proposition.

The rain of the last two days is the only thing that has stopped New London from winning some games. McCann has had a good team from the start and has not had to try out many recruits. Every man on the New London team is in mid-season condition and this fact explains their great showing. McCann's team is well balanced in every department and is composed

NEW LONDON MANAGER

"GENE" MCCANN HAS LONG BASEBALL CAREER—MANAGED N. E. TEAM IN 1896

H. Eugene McCann, manager of the New London club, is a former major league player. He has been 21 years in baseball as a player, manager or scout. He is a native of Baltimore, Md., and played his first ball for Hanover in the Cumberland league in 1895. He was with Pawtucket in the New England league for a short while in 1897. He was with Hamilton, Ont. in 1898. He was with George T. Stallings at Detroit and also played for Minneapolis. He went to Brooklyn and then to Jersey City in 1902, where he played eight years and the last season was manager of the club. He was then scout for New York Highlanders and while acting in that capacity got a chance to go to Bridgeport. He twice lost pennants in the last day of the league race. In 1910 he was tied with Waterbury and lost out the last day and next year lost to Springfield. In 1912 he was second. In the middle of the season of 1913 he went to New London and won the pennant there in 1914, losing the series with Lawrence.

McCann was a right hand pitcher when actively in the game.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

SALES ON THE INCREASE

SUPPLY HOUSES ARE DOING A RECORD BUSINESS — OTHER NEWS OF INTEREST

The Boston Auto Supply, Bridge street, calls attention of the automobilist today to the fact that they have received a shipment of automobile bumpers which can be attached to machines of every make. It is a wise auto owner who has one of these bumpers on his car, for its cost is slight and very frequently it saves considerable damage from being done when the machine goes wrong and tries to climb a telegraph pole or even "annihilate" a "White Way" pole as one did the other day. This particular machine succeeded in destroying both the pole and its own radiator. If the car had had a bumper the damage which was considerable could have been averted.

The Pullman car performed a stunt one day this week over which the local agent, C. W. Johnson, feels very proud. Curtis Johnson was demonstrating a Pullman Four to a prospective purchaser and took him out through West Chelmsford and Brookside. When they came to the difficult hill near Westford village, the car did not hesitate for an instant but easily negotiated the incline on high speed. It is needless to say that this feat was duly appreciated by the prospect, as this ascent is one of the most difficult in this vicinity.

Geo. R. Dana has on his floor two Cadillac Eight touring cars in special finish, one the standard Cadillac green with a black band edged with a gold stripe around top of body; the other a very attractive gray with black band edged with a stripe, black radiator fenders and splashers, a combination which makes a very distinctive and artistic job. Mr. Dana is also showing a very handsome Cadillac Eight roadster said to be a very easy riding car and lots of carrying space and a range of speed from two to 70 miles per hour.

280 Central street, is one of the busiest men in this city in his line of work. Although this shop cannot be said to be one of the pioneer houses, yet it is doing a big volume of business which may be attributed to Mr. Rourke's business methods and his reputation, and the fact that his vulcanizing department is in charge of the skilled Floyd Sweet.

George Myers of Bridge street is frequently seen about town in his new Auburn car, recently purchased from the local agency, the Auburn Motor Car Co.

Paul Louprette, the capable manager of the Howard street garage has resumed his position at that establishment after an absence of a number of months caused by a serious illness.

When the first announcement of the eight-cylindered Cadillac was made, there were a few interested students of automobile construction who predicted that the multiplicity of cylinders would prove fallacious, for, they argued, if four or six cylinders were sufficient to drive a car at a speed that fully satisfied all who tour for comfort, why add more cylinders? But while they were thinking that way there were others, particularly the engineers of the Cadillac Co., who saw something else, other than mere satisfaction, and they were fully convinced that the latest perfected Cadillac with the multiple cylinders would prove to be Cadillac's greatest product. They were right. The proof that they were shown in the record of shipments which Geo. R. Dana, the local agent, publishes in his advertisement today.

Mr. Burgess today announces a selling plan which is new for the Saxon car. Doubtless this plan will be of interest to many.

Arthur Bachelder, manager of the local agency for the popular Indian motorcycle, states that this is the banner year of this firm's existence. The inflow of trade has kept him on the jump from the very beginning of the season. The number of sales of this year to date more than equals the entire number of sales of Indian motorcycles made last year by this agency. Fortunately Arthur has been able to secure machines to fill orders on time. The bicycles which this same shop sells are enjoying great popularity and are in big demand.

Sometimes the machine won't behave just right. A common cause of this difficulty can be traced to the batteries. L. A. Derby & Co. are local agents for the famous Willard storage batteries. Inspection of these batteries and advice about the same can be had free of charge at this service station.

The Beharrell Tire Shop, Middle street, is coming in for a large share of the present automobile prosperity. In the short time during which this shop has been doing business a large trade has been built up; this applies also to the vulcanizing end of the business which is in charge of John Collins.

Mr. Rochette of the Lowell Motor Mart and the Ford cars are keeping up their reputations of being good sellers. Probably one of the hardest dealers to find at his place of business is this Ford agent. It is easier to find him out with a prospect humming smoothly over the roads.

Is there any advantage in heating the carburetor? I believe not. Air from the motor would also be well. What do you think about a jacketed carburetor?

Ans.—The advantage in heating the carburetor lies in the application of heat to the jets. The jets require it. When the carburetor is vaporized at or around the spray nozzle the temperature at that point is reduced several degrees. In vaporizing the liquid a certain amount of heat is absorbed from the air, and this lowering of the temperature will chill the metal of the carburetor and inlet pipe. As more gasoline is sprayed into the motor, the more it will strike the cold walls of the mixing chamber and condense. Eventually enough may form there to create a mixture that would be too rich to ignite properly. By heating the mixing chamber the condensation at this point is preserved somewhat, as the particles of gasoline when they strike the warm tube walls, causing the motor to run steadily and effecting a saving in gasoline. A hot-air pipe is also very good. In fact, in some instances it is sufficient without the hot water jacket.

Will you please state in your auto column what condition takes place when the motor is said to be "loose"? What causes it and what is the remedy?

Ans.—If the cylinders are not properly lubricated the pistons will seize in the cylinders and lock. The absence of sufficient lubrication permits the metal surfaces to come in direct contact. Undue friction through lack of proper lubrication causes the metals to expand and seize. When this condition arises the damaged surfaces usually score, necessitating regrounding of the cylinders and refitting of new pistons and rings.

AUTOMOBILE QUESTION BOX

NOTE—In these columns every Wednesday we will give expert advice to motorists on how to repair and operate their machines. Automobile readers of THE SUN are invited to ask questions on all problems they may wish to have answered. Such questions will be printed in due time. Address all communications: Automobile Editor, Sun, Lowell, Mass. Communications must bear the signature and address of the sender, though not for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

The float in the carburetor of my car seems to leak. It is metal and seems heavier than it should be. I am told that I need a new one. Why can't one have now be repaired? G. P.

Ans.—It is best to install a new float. This will prove more economical and satisfactory. The cost of a new float is approximately 50 cents.

One of the coils on my battery box buzzes all the time. I have looked for a short circuit, but I am not able to find it. What do you suggest is the trouble?

Ans.—It is possible that a small strand of wire is making contact where it attaches to the timer or the insulation on the timer at that point is broken. If the timer is off, would advise a new one, as the trouble may be inside and due to excessive wear. The trouble certainly indicates a short circuit somewhere in the primary circuit.

Will you please state in your auto column what condition takes place when the motor is said to be "loose"? What causes it and what is the remedy?

Ans.—If the cylinders are not properly lubricated the pistons will seize in the cylinders and lock. The absence of sufficient lubrication permits the metal surfaces to come in direct contact. also complete the secondary circuit. It should not be necessary to remove the coil from the coil box in order to make this test. By so doing the secondary will be taken care of.

You may find that the primary wire inside of the coil has become loosened from its binding post, thereby leaving the primary circuit open. You may also find that the wiring in the coil box itself is defective. The test you are inclined to make will determine whether the trouble lies with the coil or with the wiring of the coil box.

I have a 1914 car which heretofore has been perfectly satisfactory in every particular, a very quiet running car. At 5000 miles I had the shop inspect the car all over and the report was that it was in perfect mechanical condition and needed no adjustments, excepting only the carburetor air valve. Now I find the following trouble:

In high speed, with clutch in and motor driving car, there is a loud humming noise. Where it comes from I cannot guess. In high, with clutch in and shutting off throttle so that the car is driving the motor, the noise immediately ceases. Advancing the throttle again, the noise immediately begins again. Where does this humming noise originate, what causes it, and what is the remedy? Thanking you for your courtesy in answering me, I am, P. P.

Ans.—The noise undoubtedly is caused by the clutch thrust bearing. This bearing is just back of the clutch and should be replaced with a new one. You probably will find it necessary to drop the transmission in order to do this.

Why is it that some motor car builders use aluminum crank cases and others use cast iron crank cases, is there any great difference in cost or strength?

Ans.—Aluminum is used on account of its lightness. Cast iron is much heavier, but weighs considerably more. Aluminum has about the same strength as cast iron, but is about one-third lighter.

Would it cause any extra wear on the differential if in turning sharp corners one did not throw out the clutch? Is it better to throw out the clutch and reduce to second speed? G. G.

Ans.—To throw out clutch in turning corners does not affect the differential. It is designed to care for such requirements. To disengage clutch in turning sharp corners is good practice, but this is done more to relieve straight line shafts. Sharp corners are taken at reduced speed. To do this it is often necessary to change to a lower gear before accelerating.

HELPFUL HINTS
Hot water should never be used for washing a car. It has a deteriorating effect on the varnish of a well finished body. A single application of hot water and soap will remove the lustre. Lukewarm water will not harm.

should be a supply of tire valves and caps. A slight leak in a valve will cause as much delay as a blowout. A good valve is often hard to obtain when on the road and considerable annoyance can be avoided by carrying these accessories. A valve tap and die should also be added.

The difference between the tire mileage of different drivers depends quite largely upon the care used to avoid sharp substances in the road. A small sharp cornered stone will often make a break in the fabric and a broken bottle will sometimes cut a large hole. Tire wear also increases in a fourfold ratio compared with speed. Almost any good make of tire will run 5000 miles if used carefully.

Wood alcohol applied with a sponge or cloth is one of the best methods of cleansing either cloth or leather upholstery. A mixture of linseed oil and turpentine is sometimes recommended for cleaning leather.

Many cars have the muffler located near centre of the car directly under the body. Quite often the exhaust will set up a disagreeable rumbling, especially noticeable and annoying when riding with top up. This rumbling may be overcome by leading a piece of flexible metal hose from the muffler to the rear of the car.

EZRA MECKER STORY

For the second time Ezra Meeker will make a transcontinental tour on the now nearly lost Oregon trail. He made one trip from coast to coast during a yoke of oxen in the year 1810, 1811, 1812. His first trip was from Indianapolis to Oregon in 1832 and was an almost indescribable series of hardships and privations. This present trip will be far different. Instead of the oxen-drawn prairie schooner, cramped and uncomfortable as a cage, creeping and bumping along a ribboned scar across the deserts, the wilderness, and the snowy Rockies, to a promised land of plenty, this journey will be made in a twelve-cylinder motor car, equipped properly for such a long distance and on roads, which while in many places leaving room for great improvement, by comparison are smooth as paper.

Ezra Meeker is old now, or as he says, "55 years young," but the unquenched fire of youth still burns in his veins. He is no longer the stalwart young man with the indomitable pioneer courage that was ready to face the weary march, the countless agency of meeting savage Indians, disease and the perils of famine. He is slightly stooped now and his snow white hair flows to his shoulders, but in spirit at least, he is no older than the twenty-two year old youth of '32—for he has a mission in life. This is to instill the flower of patriotism in the breast of each person with whom he comes in contact, and to dignify the march of the century, the work of the pioneers in penetrating the virgin west, by erecting stone monuments, along the old Oregon trail. Much of this work has already been done by Mr. Meeker, by driving a yoke of oxen from the Atlantic to the Pacific, a trip which took twenty-two months, selling his books along the route, the proceeds of which are donated to a self appointed task. Mr. Meeker was born at Hunkley, Ohio, December 23, 1830. His parents moved to Indiana near the village of Stringtown, now called Indianapolis, where he was only a toddling youngster. Here he grew to manhood following the usual life of the pioneer boy. He hunted and fished in the district which is now covered with factories and residences. He was unable to secure much schooling—six months was the actual time he attended school—but he has always been a voracious reader and attributes the ability he possesses of speaking and writing the purest English to reading the country's leading newspapers. For a time Mr. Meeker worked in the Indianapolis Journal printing office as "devil" for past twelve months, but also an excellent prospect not only for the continuation of very satisfactory business, but for an increase—other things being normal—in line with the increase of the past twelve months. Overland shipments for the twelve months ending April 30th, 1916, were 137,665 automobiles as against 50,268 cars for the preceding twelve months—an increase of 174 per cent.

NEW BRANCH FACTORY

To supplement the facilities of its main factory, the Saxon Motor Car company has opened a branch plant at Franklin and Beaubien streets, which will be devoted to building "six" roadsters.

For the last three months this factory building containing 60,000 square feet of floor space has been used as a service station for the factory, but the demand for Saxon cars has made it necessary to equip it with assembling machinery and turn it over to manufacturing. Thursday a force of workmen started building "six" roadsters there and the production mark will be 25 cars a day in the plant, known as the Franklin street branch. It is the plan of the Saxon company to build practically all of its "six" roadsters in this branch, leaving the main factory for the construction of the touring cars and "four" roadsters. In this way the officials hope to keep up with the demand for cars that is being made daily from all parts of the country.

The opening of the branch adds 25 cars a day to the total number that the Saxon is now building. In the main factory about 100 "six" touring cars and 70 "four" roadsters are being turned out daily. It is reported.

S. V. B. Noel. But the confining indoor work did not appeal to him so he became a farmer, tilling the soil, harvesting and doing the countless other duties of farm life in the crude makeshift manner that was current in those days. The call of the open road took him and the desire for land of his own, caused him to start on his first journey over the broad expanse of the Pacific. At the age of twenty-one he married and soon after with his young wife net out to an unknown destination, settled in the mysteries of secret dangers, that led him after much delay, to Portland, Oregon. "When I decided to make this transcontinental trip in an automobile, I was obliged to have my car stripped to the chassis and a prairie schooner body and top built on. While there is of course nothing beautiful about my "technician-mob" in comparison with the graceful liquid lines of the regular car, I chose this type because I intend to live in the car until the trip is completed. By careful planning and minimizing useless space, it is surprising how much a prairie schooner body will carry and still be homelike indeed. I was delayed in Indianapolis while my latest book was being printed and left this city April 23rd, starting from Monument Place, or "Governor's Circle," as it was formally called, before the beautiful monument was even a creature of dreams. I expect to leave the capitol at Washington, D. C., about the middle of May, driving by easy stages into the heart of the setting sun on the long trip overland."

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 17.—The formal annual meeting of the stockholders of the Willys-Overland company was held at the big automobile factory the other day, in conformation with the new by-laws adopted last fall which changed the fiscal year from June 30th to December 31st. Hereafter the annual meeting will be held the second Tuesday in May.

At this meeting the old officers were re-elected. John N. Willys being re-elected president; H. T. Dunn, vice-president; H. L. Shepler, vice-president; Isaac Kinsey, vice-president; C. A. Earl, vice-president; Walter Stewart, treasurer; Royal R. Scott, secretary. The board of directors will consist of Messrs. John N. Willys, H. T. Dunn, Isaac Kinsey, C. A. Earl, H. L. Shepler, Walter Stewart, Royal R. Scott, James Keppeler and Rathbun Fuller.

One of the interesting features of the meeting was the report of the sales department, which evidenced not only very gratifying results for the past twelve months, but also an excellent prospect not only for the continuation of very satisfactory business, but for an increase—other things being normal—in line with the increase of the past twelve months. Overland shipments for the twelve months ending April 30th, 1916, were 137,665 automobiles as against 50,268 cars for the preceding twelve months—an increase of 174 per cent.

THE CITY OF RAVENNA

ANCIENT ITALIAN CITY IS TREASURE-TROVE FOR THE STUDENT AND THE TRAVELER

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—Ravenna, the scene of a recent bombardment by Austrian aircraft, is the subject of today's war geography bulletin, issued by the National Geographic society from its Washington headquarters, which says:

"Forty miles east of Bologna, seventy miles south of Venice, and a hundred miles southwest of the Austrian naval base of Pola, lies the ancient Italian city of Ravenna, which, with the possible exception of Rome, possesses more magnificent examples of ecclesiastical architecture of the Byzantine period than any other city in the world."

"In art, in literature and in historic significance Ravenna is a treasure-trove for student and traveler. Its beginning is attributed to the Thesians, but there is more tradition than fact in the accounts of the region over which it held sway until it came under the jurisdiction of Rome nearly 200 years before the Christian era. It was here that Julius Caesar was accustomed to come for his conferences with friends and political advisers from Rome during his ten years' campaign in Gaul."

"The importance of the port which strongly resembled Venice in its early days, but which is now six miles from the Adriatic coast from the time when Augustus Caesar designated it as the naval base of the upper sea, its harbor being able to accommodate 250 ships at a time. At that period the marshy plain which now surrounds the town at the confluence of the Montone and Ronco rivers, was little more than a vast salt bed. The houses were built on piles, and at high tide the sea reached numerous lagoons. The salt was so effectively removing the danger of malaria that the city soon acquired a reputation as a health resort, to which the gladiators of Rome were sent for training."

"Ravenna's golden age came not with the Augustan era, however, but with the great Roman empire's doom, when being sealed, Honorius and his remarkable sister, Galla Placidia, becoming alarmed at the steady advance of the barbarian forces from the north, transferred their court from the Eternal City to the Adriatic port, which remained the seat of the government for Italy not only during the few remaining years of the western empire, but throughout the ascendancy of the Greek emperors. Here the Byzantine viceroys or exarchs for the peninsula made their headquarters until the advent of the Lombards in the eighth century."

"Many of the most fascinating episodes of history are associated with the name of Ravenna, such, for example, as the tragic story of Odoacer, who wrested the realm of Italy from Orestes in 476 and then waged bitter war against Theodoric the Ostrogoth for many years, finally being shut up in Ravenna where he withstood a siege of three years. At length Odoacer capitulated with the understanding that he and Theodoric should divide the kingdom equally between them. To celebrate the compact a magnificent banquet was spread in a famous laurel grove, and here while the two rulers feasted the Ostrogoth with his own hand slew his royal rival."

"During the famous battle of Ravenna, in 1512, the picturesque Gaston de Foix completely routed the Spaniards under Cardona, but threw away his own life in the excitement of victory. It was in this battle that a Capt. Fabian emulating the exploit of the legendary Swiss hero, William Tell, feeling that his men could not break through the wall of Spanish spears, raised his long pike high over his head and brought it down crosswise with crushing force upon his own life but making a small gap in the enemy's line through which his own men rushed. "Two names which shine in the garden of Ravenna's renown are those of Italy's greatest poet and one of the four great epic writers of civilization, Dante and Lord Byron. It was in Ravenna that the founder of the modern Italian language died in 1321, and here his body is treasured in an urn, beneath a square-domed tomb. Byron, during his Italian sojourn lived in this city for two years, being attracted merely by the famous Pinco (pine woods), five miles to the south but the charms of the Countess Guicciotti should not be forgotten that in the adjacent marshes Anita, the heroic wife of the Italian liberator Garibaldi, died of fatigue during her flight from the French in 1849."

SUNDAY COMING TO HUB

HE ACCEPTS THE BOSTON SITE—SERVICES TO BE HELD ON OLD BALL GROUNDS

BOSTON, May 17.—Billy Sunday will preach next fall on the old Huntington avenue ball grounds. His son George says so.

George Sunday came to town for 11 hours yesterday. He gave local revival campaigns a little efficiency talk at the city club at noon, he went over the city club problem with a small group of the committee, and then wired his father that neither Cambridge nor any other site offered such possibilities as the Huntington avenue location.

Billy's boss carpenter was with George, Joseph H. Spence, and said he would put up a building in which Sunday can be heard in every corner, despite the building laws.

Late last night a telegram was received by Allen C. Emery, chairman of the Sunday campaign committee, from Billy Sunday, announcing that he accepted the Boston situation for the tabernacle.

"I know the building laws of Boston, and I can put up a building in which the man standing far off in the back corner can hear the reverend (meaning Mr. Sunday) just as well as you can hear me," said Mr. Spence.

Mr. Spence is a carpenter and contractor from Ramey, Pa. He had a terrible time getting through the long luncheon at the City club before he could get out and have a chew of tobacco.

"I've built 17 tabernacles, and they were all a go," he went on. "If this one isn't a good 'un I'll tear it down and put up another. Making it of steel, brick and concrete will take about two months and a half, so we'll have to start in August."

The building will have brick outside walls, an inside wall of wood, steel supports which will be faced with plaster board and a concrete rostrum covered with wood.

"No, that isn't all right," George said, "but it's the best we can do. And it will be possible for us to use such a building. That's all you can say for it."

George was more anxious to talk about the election. He says "Teddy

PLEDGES FOR $2,500,000

BISHOP LAWRENCE REPORTS ON PENSIONS FOR CLERGY—COMMITTEES WILL RAISE $5,000,000

BOSTON, May 17.—In a telegram from New York to the Boston Globe, Bishop Lawrence announces the receipt of pledges for $2,500,000—one-half of the $5,000,000 which must be in hand as a reserve fund to start the plan to pension the retiring clergy of the Protestant Episcopal church.

"The campaign to raise this money constitutes the largest single enterprise ever undertaken by the Episcopal church," he says. "It was formally started on March 1, and will continue for one year. It is expected that on March 1, 1917, the full reserve fund will have been subscribed and the scheme will then be put into effect. Some 712 clergymen will then be eligible for immediate retirement."

"The plan contemplates that each of the 5500 clergy in the church will be eligible for retirement at 68 years of age upon a minimum annuity of $600 a year. The actual amount will be ascertained by multiplying the number of years of service by 1/4 per cent of the average annual salary received. Committees are at work throughout out the United States raising money for the reserve fund, the campaign being in charge of a National committee of which Bishop Lawrence is chairman and Mr. J. P. Morgan, treasurer."

SPRING TERM CLOSING

PROGRAM AT Y.M.C.A. WILL CONSIST OF DEMONSTRATION OF HEALTH BUILDING ACTIVITIES

In connection with the Health Exhibit which is being presented in several points throughout the city, the Y.M.C.A. will stage the week of its exhibit a practical demonstration of health building activities. The demonstration marks the closing of the spring term physical training classes. A very interesting and varied program has been prepared by Physical Director M. P. Fure and will be presented by the combined Leaders' clubs, that is, Junior Leaders, Employed Leaders, and Senior Leaders.

The type of exercises and work carried on in the regular classes will be presented, with some special attractions added. The Senior Leaders' club will present advanced grade exercises on the high bar and parallel bars. The Junior, Student and Employed Leaders will present elementary and intermediate grade exercises on back, parallel bar, long horse, ring and jump stand, side horse and elephant. The combined Junior Leaders will also present warm exercises, gymnastic dance steps, dumb-bell drill and gymnasium games. Mr. W. A. Bristol, educational secretary of the association, who is an expert in club work, will give a series of torch clubs, along this line by swinging torch clubs. The supremacy of the student and employed leaders in basketball will be decided by the game between the two clubs named. The demonstration is open to the public. Both men and women are invited to attend. The first number will be presented promptly at 8 o'clock.

Following the basketball game the Senior swimmers will present a program of healthful aquatic activities in the natatorium. The program will be as follows: Senior relay, 40-yd. swim, senior, 20-yd. back stroke, senior, intermediate relay, fancy diving, senior, plunge for distance, senior, 100-yd. swim, senior. Miss R. L. Falls will furnish music for the gymnasium program.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Billie Burke in a brand new Triangle picture play is the biggest sort of a boon for local lovers of the motion pictures, and Billie is to be seen at the R. F. Keith theatre this afternoon and evening for the final times. Just imagine it: one of the most beautiful of American actresses, light in the very flower of her beauty, being photographed amid Scottish surroundings for a play which has all kinds of tender heart interest. And, incidentally, is should be mentioned that the photography shown is of the very highest order. Triangle moving pictures will send a thrill through this town, for they are superior in every way. Superior players, superior plays, superior photography, and there is clean as a whistle.

Billie Burke has for several years been one of the most sought-after of actresses for moving pictures. Naturally enough she had the "say" about the matter, and her say extended to the point of selecting a play for herself. "Peggy" was that play. It is in seven parts, the interest is sustained throughout, and the auxiliary characters are very well acted. Indeed, Wm. H. Thompson as the Scotch laird does a wonderful bit of character acting. It ranks with the work of the star, while the other members of the cast are of the first calibre.

But there are other good things on the bill, and among them an intimate Triangle-Keystone comedy in three parts, called "Fatty and Mabel Adrift." "Fatty" in none other than Roscoe Arbuckle and "Mabel" is Mabel Normand, who was featured a year ago with Chaplin in his plays. This comedy is punctuated with laugh spots, not the least of them being the drifting of the beach cottage out to sea while the bridegroom and his bride are sleeping soundly. They awake in good time, and their faithful dog carries the alarm to shore. In this the work of Arbuckle and Miss Normand is genuinely good. The photography is excellent, and the whole play is conceived in the best manner of Mack Sennett, the discoverer of Chaplin.

A real Bud Fisher cartoon, brought into the movies, is the third splendid feature of the bill. "Mutt and Jeff in an Aeroplane" is its title and it is guaranteed to bring forth lots of laughter. These cartoons are among the recent hits of Almodom, and as Keith's always keeps abreast of the times in securing features such things are to be expected all of the time.

Tomorrow Frank Keenan in a great play of the Civil war, "The Coward," will show in his splendid play, "The Closed Road." If you are to see these two plays and the St. Hopkins comedy, Pathe News and others you must come today for this is the last day for their presentation. During the last three days of this week commencing

This is the last appearances of the stars which are playing in their latest releases and successes at the Merrimack Square theatre during the first 3 days of this week. There will be a continuous performance at this theatre today. No one should miss seeing the wonderful Geraldine Farrar in the title role of the five act feature, "Marie Rosa" which is a play, gripping as few plays are gripping. It is equally important that you should see House Peters in his splendid play, "The Closed Road." If you are to see these two plays and the St. Hopkins comedy, Pathe News and others you must come today for this is the last day for their presentation. During the last three days of this week commencing ing with the matinee performance tomorrow afternoon. The new stars of the motion picture world, will be seen at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow in another of the famous William Fox productions, "The Marble Heart." Just as her wonderful acting won her great fame on the legitimate stage, just so sure will the movie fans recognize her wonderful ability when they witness this new Fox feature.

"The Marble Heart" is a photoplay of fear and it depicts in a terrible manner the way in which a stunner's conscience is torn and his life made weary. It tells of two young persons, who falling in love with each other and in order to gain their end murder the husband of the woman. Then there follow the scenes, in which the guilty pair, fearing one another, decide to kill each other. One day the mother of the murdered man overhears them accusing each other, and from the moment that she discovers their guilt she becomes a paralytic and is unable to move anything except her eyes. How the invalid mother tries to make known the fact that the murderers are under her roof, how the two guilty ones, too cowardly to kill each other, decide to die from a draught of poison, forms a story in which in quick succession, big, gripping emotional scenes follow each other until persons in the audience almost feel that they can hear the players speaking. Other excellent photoplays and a good comedy will be presented at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow.

ROYAL THEATRE
Of the many actors who have graced the screen with their ingratiating personalities, none has proven more popular than the old stage favorite, Robert Edson, whose delineations of strong, vital types have proven a great delight to millions of movie admirers. Day and tomorrow, Bob will put forth one of his best efforts in "Big Jim Garritty," the first five-act Gold Rooster production, introducing Mr. Edson in its cast. The Royal theatre is fortunate to have such a drawing card on its program. As usual, Mr. Edson's part is a splendid one—the depicts "Big Jim" with that forceful vitality that belongs exclusively to him. "Big Jim" is the happy-go-lucky individual with a punch in each hand, and a smile of guileless indifference behind his powerful strength. Mr. Edson is supported by a remarkable cast, and the production has been realistically finished. Another good feature for the mid-week performance is an episode of "The Iron Claw," with Pearl White, Sheldon Lewis and Creighton Hale, and of course, the mysterious "Laughing Mask," who becomes a deeper mystery than ever. Coming Friday and Saturday, the first story of a series of Pathe pictures under the title "Laughing Mask," which is a study of different phases of life in our country. JEWELL THEATRE
As we stroll along the streets and see people, do we sometimes think of the many among them that bear sorrow under a smiling countenance. If we were to know all the bitterness of this world, it would give us a different light on all matters. We would not be so apt to sneer at a painted face, laugh at the feeble-minded, we would not be so indifferent if we knew why some of us are bodily wrecked, drunkards and sometimes criminals. Some actors seem to feel these things, seem to know the causes and effects. In Miss Cleo Madison, we

YOU CAN HAVE PINK CHEEKS

What causes the color to fade from pink cheeks and red lips? In a word it is thin blood.

When the fading color in cheeks and lips is accompanied by a loss of brightness in the eyes and an increasing heaviness in the body, the cause is to be sought in the state of the blood.

A hundred causes may contribute to the condition of thin blood that is known as anemia. Overwork, lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient rest and sleep, improper diet, these are a few of them. The important thing is to restore the blood to normal, to build it up so that the color will return to cheeks and lips.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the great blood builder and invigorator. They begin at once to increase the red corpuscles in the blood and the new blood carries strength and health to every part of the body. Appetite increases, digestion becomes more perfect, energy and ambition return.

A booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. If you mention this paper, your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes, $2.50.

Adjournment Taken to Allow Lawyers to Discuss Settlement

Owing to the delay of one of the jurors in reaching the court room this morning, the civil session of the superior court did not resume until 10:30 o'clock. The tardy juror was Mr. Sherburne of Tyngsboro, who was forced to come in an automobile, for, on account of a washout on the Nashua line the electric cars were not running.

The court resumed at 11:20 o'clock and Mrs. Phoebe B. Tridoff, who was on the witness stand at the close of yesterday afternoon's session was again cross-examined by Lawyer Fisher.

"Did you at that time form an opinion as to her mental condition?"

"I did."

"What was her condition as you observed it?"

"I formed an opinion that she was not a person of sound mind. She was of an unbalanced organization and she seemed to harbor a delusion of suspicion as to a good many cases. It is accompanied by hallucinations, that is, hearing and seeing things, and this also applies to the taste and smell. From my view she was not a well person mentally. She had what we call a delusion of the world, and when I spoke with her I found that often times she talked in riddles. She was

"No sir, she brought me $5."

"Did she ever bring you money on more than one occasion?"

"Yes, she did."

"Have you ever been at Munn's store when your sister bought goods to be sent to your home?"

Continuing the doctor said Mrs. Costello seldom spoke well of anybody.

"Do you recall any conversation with Mrs. Costello?"

"Yes, one she told me that her brother-in-law, Thomas Costello had 'jewed' her out of $100,000, and that he had maltreated her and 'jewed' her out of her rights. There was also

"Yes," said Mrs. Costello in selling her remedy she was preparing?"

"Yes sir."

"I don't know."

"No sir."

"When did Carson come to the Cos-used to be a judge?"

"Later on he came in to examine her as to her mental condition?"

"Yes; on Aug. 6, 1914. At that time I saw her at her house and she was in a state of semi-delirium. I was accompanied by her physician, Dr. Taylor. She rambled off against that 'devil' or 'black man,' meaning Mr. Sawyer, and she was under the impression that my examination was a scheme to rob her."

"Was her mental condition due to a cancer from which she suffered?"

"I think not. I believe it was due to her weakened physical condition."

"Could you tell how long her mental troubles had been in that condition?"

"For several years."

"Do you recall her talking of her relatives?"

"Yes; she never spoke of them with ordinary respect or affection. She was bitter against her own."

"How do you know?"
"Mr. Carson told me and Mrs. Costello told me later."

"Did you ever file any claim for your services?" queried Justice Bell.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Within a very short time the national political conventions will be called, and the wondering history will repeat itself with the birth of another political party, even as happened quarter of a century ago, when at a convention held in Cincinnati, in the early part of the month of May, a new party was formed and known as "The People's Party of America." It had a short but interesting career, starting out with a Union platform, and getting a fair-sized number of recruits throughout the states. It was on the map only a few years; but then the Bull Moose of recent years didn't follow effectively for any great length of time.

The People's party organized at a convention of 14 delegates representing 34 states. Its platform called for the abolition of national banks and the substitution of legal tender treasury notes which were to be loaned to the people at a rate of not more than 2 per cent. per annum on non-perishable products. It demanded the unlimited extension of credit, and called for laws prohibiting alien ownership of land, and the acquiring by congress of all lands already owned by alien or foreign syndicates. It also declared for the direct election of the president, vice president and United States senators, and for a graduated income tax.

If there were any at Lowell at the coming convention, their names didn't get into the Sun, but Massachusetts was represented by two well known characters, Dr. Gerry Brown and E. Moody Boynton. In Lowell the people's party acquired a number of converts, principally among organized labor, and among them a well known labor leader, was one of the principal exponents of the new doctrine and a few years later became a candidate for senator on that ticket. That was the year when Hon. Peter J. Brady ran as the democratic candidate. At that time Brady was recognized as a member of organized labor, being affiliated with the old Knights of Labor, and his candidacy was officially endorsed at a meeting of the old Central Labor union, despite the vehement protest of Mr. Connolly. At a subsequent meeting, the action endorsing Mr. Brady was rescinded, and the nomination was handed to the People's party candidate, Mr. Connolly. On election day, however, the election was awarded to Mr. Brady, and the People's party, as far as Lowell was concerned never got beyond the "also ran" class.

Dress Club Minutes

Whether it was because they weren't so busy in days gone by, or whatever the reason might have been, the newspapermen of Lowell of quarter of a century ago, manifested more generosity than they do in these times, and had an organization known as the Lowell Press club, which maintained comfortable quarters in the old Shattuck block, now the Harrington building, in Central street, where they entertained themselves and their friends outside of the profession for many good times, while they also had outings and ball games to which out-of-town newspapermen were attracted.

Quarter of a century ago Mr. Harry R. Rice was president of the organization, and under his energetic direction the club had a number of good times. Just at this period of the year the show was under the direction of Dr. F. R. Rice, the well known singer and teacher of vocal culture of quarter of a century ago, and they "rang in" Terry Molloy, George Burns and Dave Martin as soloists, while the late John Boyd of the Courier and Harry Stocks of the old Morning Times were genuine newspapermen, and were capable of making good before the most critical audience. The end men were as follows: Tambores: Messrs. Newhall, Jennings, Cook and Lebarge; bones: Messrs. Eckhardt, Mahar, Conant and Hurd, the last named, Charles Hurd, of the old Citizen, being a newspaperman, while Harry Mahar was an advertiser, and hence wasn't a "ringer." John S. Colby, an editor, was intercomedian, and the quartet consisted of Messrs. Sturtevant, Stocks, Wilson and Rice. The first part and olio went big and in the latter the Burkes Four, Thomas and Watson, the comedians from old Music Hall, Dr. F. R. Rice, and the stringed instruments, and the Royal Mandolin club, assisted materially. But the thing on which they hit the rocks was the afterpiece, a satire on the Lowell common council, which at that time had been in deadlock for several months. It was described on the program as a burlesque, and surely it was. The old Sun referred to this part of the entertainment as follows:

"The show might have been completely successful but that the leader in the common council piece quite forgot his lines, and in extemporizing departed entirely from the prepared text so that those who knew their lines thoroughly, had to remain silent and hear the sneers of a disgusted audience. The members of the common council in particular, enjoyed the discomfiture which was more complete than anything of the kind that has ever occurred in that branch of the city council."

All of the papers were fairly charitable in their notices, except one, none of whose staff were affiliated with the organization. The editor of that paper made several unkind references to the performances, and among other things publicly bemoaned the fact that he had purchased tickets and had been "hung." As a result, at a meeting of the club held afterward, it was voted to refund him whatever money he had paid for tickets, and condemnatory resolutions upon him and his paper for "the unfriendly, malicious and scurrilous attacks upon the club and its assisting friends outside the profession," were adopted.

The other hand votes of thanks were extended to Dr. Rice, the director; Mr. James Bayles, stage manager, and to the outside talent. But whether a success or not, from an artistic standpoint, it would appear that the show was a success financially for the club a week later, at which all the talent appeared, and as an added attraction there were speeches by Harry R. Rice, James Bayles and David P. Martin.

Writ of Personal Replevin
Recently this column contained mention of an experience of Gen. Butler before Judge Carpenter, during the trial of Mrs. Clara E. Johnson, in an alleged pension fraud case, the court refusing to hear the general, who was counsel for Mrs. Johnson, and forbidding him to enter the case, at the conclusion of which Mrs. Johnson was sentenced to Sherborn. Gen. Butler made a valiant effort to prevent the court's sentence being carried out, but his legal objections were overruled, and Mrs. Johnson went to Sherborn to serve her time, and in a few days the courts, bar and public, which had been deeply interested in the case, came to the conclusion that they had heard the last of it. But in arriving at that conclusion they reckoned without the resourceful, though fast-aging general. The latter wasn't felled with the case by any means, and hence one day some time afterward the newspapers in big head lines contained the surprising news that Mrs. Johnson was at her home in Lowell, having been released on a writ of "personal replevin" brought by her counsel, Gen. Butler, for the purpose of appearing in court again to "demand right and justice."

Ellen C. Johnson (who had caused her prosecution), for the duress and imprisonment aforesaid, etc." The writ was issued by Justice Mason, and was signed by Clerk Hurd, of the superior court, while it was served by Sheriff Cushing, who returned to Lowell with Mrs. Johnson. The announcement made many a lawyer and law student rush to his library to ascertain just what a writ of personal replevin might be, for many had never heard of it. The old Sun said of it:

"The writ of personal replevin is a very old process and dates back many years. It had not been used for many years and was practically forgotten. In 1856 a movement was started to repeal it, but better counsel prevailed and the legislature refused to repeal it."

CONG. ROGERS CHOSEN

LOWELL MAN NAMED FOR FINANCE COMMITTEE BY REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, May 17.—At a meeting of the republican congressional committee yesterday, Representative Rogers was named to the finance committee, with Representative Austin of Missouri as chairman. The committee will devote its energies to raising and disbursing funds in close districts.

AT THE ROLLAWAY

Tomorrow night Albert Nebes, winner of the big six-day race and undefeated champion skater of Massachusetts, will meet "Spider" McLean of Bath, Me. in the first part of a three-night race. McLean is well known to Lowell skating fans, having defeated Nebes two or three years ago on the same floor.

An All-Star Ladies Candlegpin Bowling team of Derby, N. H. is to roll the Lowell Ladies' team at the Crescent alleys tomorrow evening. BIG HEALTH EXHIBIT staged here of the modern roads to health, the better methods of conservation of healthful conditions at home or in the stores and shops and, besides the exhibits there will be numerous lectures by experts.

Where To See It

The places occupied by the exhibit include the fourth floor of the Chaffoux building at Central and Merrimack streets, the vacant store at Merrimack and John streets and at Middlesex hall in Palmer street. Most of the material to be used in the exhibit is furnished by the state but local workers and nurses of the Lowell guild.

The fourth floor of the Chaffoux building has been transformed into a hospital room furnished by the Lowell General Hospital. Lowell Guild nurses are showing the proper care of children during sickness. The Massachusetts Anti-Tuberculosis association has installed on this floor a complete exhibit of an open-air school room, demonstrating its value in being conducive to good health.

The store at John and Merrimack streets contains some very interesting exhibits. Near the Merrimack street door there is a health exhibit, showing the conditions that make for tuberculosis and against it. The walls are placarded with pictures and diagrams and one reads that in order to avoid consumption one must avoid alcohol, drink and patent medicines. Besides a big card advising that in order to keep healthy one should sleep in the open air it is still a larger card contributed by the committee on waterways and displaying the fact that 1000 children have lost their lives in the waterways of Lowell. Just where this card fits in a tuberculosis exhibit is more than the casual observer can determine, but one must be satisfied with the explanation that there is no limit to the energy and resourcefulness of the committee on waterways.

The Welfare exhibit by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company is very interesting. Most of the material for the exhibit was sent from New York and includes all towers with beacon lights. The company is also distributing some very fine and useful literature such as "The Baby and You," and "First Aid in the Home." Even doctors who picked up some of the literature declared it was well worth the reading.

There is also a state exhibit of child welfare, embracing the care of babies and the methods of keeping milk cool. This particular exhibit is in charge of Miss May B. Dickinson, field supervisor of the department of hygiene. Miss Dickinson demonstrated with a child who she referred to, longingly, as "Liz-zie." Miss Dickinson will give a series of lectures during the week, and she is also passing out the following health creed:

"I will keep my body clean within and without; I will breathe pure air and I will live in the sunlight; I will do no act that might endanger the health of others; I will try to learn and practice the rules of healthy living; I will work and rest and play at the right time and in the right way; so that my mind will be strong and my body healthy, and so that I will lead a useful life and do honor to my parents, to my friends and to my country."

Miss Clara E. Holland of the Lowell Guild is in charge of the demonstrations in the store in Merrimack and John streets. There is a great deal of useful information at the store in question, and he who enters may spend a profitable 15 or 20 minutes there. Besides the child welfare and others there are pictures showing good and bad conditions in shops, good and bad lunch rooms, duty industries, first aid hospitals, nurses and other interesting studies.

Middlesex hall in Palmer street, which will house a portion of the exhibit, will not be available for use until tomorrow and then it will be occupied by representatives of the Young Men's Christian association, who will demonstrate first aid work, and by Boy Scouts, who will give practical ideas of interest.

Lowell Board of Health.

The Lowell board of health is compiling statistics of conditions in Lowell, which when completed, will be transferred to cards and these will be hung in conspicuous places. There is also being made a map which will show locations of tuberculosis where it exists in Lowell.

The same house during the past ten years. The purpose of this map is to show the relation which the condition of houses bear to tuberculosis and its re-occurrence. In conjunction with the health exhibit it is planned to have lectures given by crack Polish and Lithuanian by parties speaking the language of the respective peoples. The lectures to be given by experts will form one of the features of the entire exhibit. The subjects to be presented are pertinent to the purpose of the Lowell board of health, and are competent to talk on health. The lecture subjects, lectures and the time and places where the talks will be given are as follows:

Chemical Explosions Endangered Lives of Firemen—Ladderman Climbed 80 Feet to Make Vents

BOSTON, May 17.—During a fire which damaged a building at the corner of Broad and High streets, in a wholesale business district early today a series of chemical explosions endangered the lives of the firemen who fled several times to places of safety. Some of them worked under heat so intense that those lines were turned on them and they had great difficulty in holding their footing. One ladderman climbed 80 feet on an extension ladder, mounting through a gauntlet of flame, smoke and water that obscured him from sight of those below so long at times that two other firemen were sent after him. He succeeded finally in unsinking vents in the windows on the sixth floor without injury, and through these water was poured on the blaze. The Wright Illustrating & Engraving Co., the Dodge, Haley Co., dealers in iron and steel, and the Wireless Specialty Apparatus Co., suffered the principal damage, which was estimated at $50,000.

TROUBLES OF PRESIDENT

Wilson Reviews His Course—Kept Awake Nights Trying to Keep U. S. at Peace With World

WASHINGTON, May 17.—President Wilson last night made public a frank and intimate review of his three years in the white house and his impressions of foreign and domestic problems, delivered confidentially before Washington correspondents gathered at the National Press club.

He spoke of the difficulties of the presidency, and particularly of the motives, which have guided his handling of the European situation.

"Impressions of public men as a class were given frankly by the president. He also discussed the relations of the newspapers to the affairs of the nation and sounded a warning that false information about foreign affairs was more than likely to lead to trouble.

"The president's speech was originally delivered was read by him carefully before it was made public, but no important portions were eliminated and the wording was not changed substantially.

Following is the speech, in part:

Foremost was verified.

"I am both glad and sorry to be here. Glad because I am always happy to be with you, and know and like so many of you, and sorry because I want to make a speech. One of the leading faults of you gentlemen of the press is your inordinate desire to hear other men talk, to draw them out on all occasions, whether they wish to be drawn out or not.

"I was thinking as I was looking forward to coming here this evening of that other occasion when I stood very nearly at the threshold of the duties that I have since been called upon to perform, and I was going over in my mind the impressions that I then had by way of forecast of the duties of president, and comparing them with the experiences that have followed. I must say that the forecast has been very largely verified and that the impressions I had then have been deepened rather than weakened.

"You may recall that I said then that I felt constantly a personal detachment from the presidency; that one thing that I resented, when I was not performing the duties of the office, was being reminded that I was the president of the United States.

Would Wear False Whiskers

"I felt toward it as a man feels toward a great function which, in working hours, he is obliged to perform, but which, out of working hours, he is glad to get away from and almost forget and resume the quiet let the storm pass, and then, when it is all over, have the reckonings?

"Knowing that from both these two points of view the passion of America was for peace, was, nevertheless, aware that America is one of the nations of the world, not only, but one of the chief nations of the world—a nation that grows more and more powerful almost in spite of herself; that grows morally more and more influential even when she is not aware of it; and that if she is to play the part which she most covets it is necessary that she should act more or less from the point of view from the rest of the world.

"If I cannot retain my moral influence over a man except by occasionally knocking him down, if that is the only basis upon which he will respect me, then for the sake of his soul I have got occasionally to knock him down."

Choosing the Time to Act

"You know how we have read in— isn't it in Ralph Connor's stories of western life in Canada?—That all his sky pilots are ready for a fracas at any time, and how the ultimate salvation of souls of their parishioners depends upon their using their fists occasionally.

"If a man will not listen to you quietly in a seat, sit on his neck and make him listen; just as I have always maintained, particularly in view of certain experiences of mine, that the shortest road to a boy's moral sense is through his fists.

"So I say that I have been aware that, in order to do the very thing that we are proudest of the ability to do, there might come a time when we would have to do it in a way that we would prefer not to do it, and the great burden on my spirit, gentlemen, has been that it has been up to me to choose when that time came.

"Can you imagine a thing more calculated to keep a man awake at nights than that? Because, just because I did not feel that I was the whole thing and was aware that my duty was a duty of interpretation, how can I be sure that I had the right elements of interpretation by which to interpret truly?"

Thought May Be Bandits

"Now, that is where the experience that I found in the forest, from the experience that I have had in domestic matters I think I can in most cases come pretty near a guess where the thought of America is going, but in foreign affairs the chief element is where action is going on in other quarters of the world and not where the unit is going in the United States.

"Therefore, I have several times taken the liberty of urging upon you gentlemen not yourselves to know more than the state department knows about foreign affairs. Some of you have shown a singular range of omniscience, and certain things have been reported, as underlings in administrative circles, which I have not heard of until I read the newspapers.

"I am constantly taken by surprise in regard to decisions which are said to be my own, and this gives me an uncomfortable feeling that some providence is at work with which I have had no relation at all.

"Now, that is pretty dangerous, gentlemen, because it happens that remarks start fires. There is under lying everywhere, not only on the other side of the water, but on this side of the water, and a man that speaks sparks is underling in a very real sense, something a great deal worse than burning a town on the Mexican border.

"Thoughts may be bandits. Thoughts may be raiders. Thoughts may be invaders. Thoughts may be disturbers of international peace, and when you reflect upon the importance of elements going out of the present war, you will know what tremendous elements we are all dealing with.

All in the Same Boat

"We are all in the same boat. If somebody does not keep the processes of peace going, if somebody does not keep their passions disengaged, by what impartial judgment and suggestion is the world to be added to a solution, when the whole thing is over?"

If you are in a conference in which you know nobody is disinterested, how are you going to make a plan? I tell you this, gentlemen, the only thing that saves the world is the little handful of disinterested men that are in it.

"Now, I have found a few disinterested men. I wish I had found more. I can name two or three men with whom I have conferred again and again, and again, and I have never caught them by inadvertence thinking about themselves, for their interests, and I tie to those men as you would tie to an anchor.

"Men who have no axes to grind! Men who love America so that they would give their lives for it and never care whether anyone lives for it, and they did given their lives for it, only they might serve! Those are the men, and nations, like those men, are the nations that are going to serve the world and save it.

"Pioneer Home Industries and Their Educational Significance" was the subject of an interesting talk by Mr. George H. Whitaker, assistant superintendent of schools of New Hampshire, before members of Molly Vardham chapter, D.A.R., at the Spalding house yesterday afternoon. He emphasized the need and necessity of developing the hand as well as the brain in the proper and best methods of education. He said that in the present-day education too much effort is being devoted to the development of the brain, but we are slowly but surely returning to a serious consideration of hand as well as brain development. As an example of what old time education and work did for the people of this country, the speaker gave an interesting word-picture of conditions at an old fashioned New England farm a half century ago. He showed how the old method of haying, butter making, manufacture of maple sugar, soap making and all of the other work generally carried out by our grandfathers and grandmothers not only called into use physical efforts but also demanded brain power as well, thus developing both the hand and the brain in a practical, purposeful work, the kind that had individuality to it, was what helped very materially in education, said the speaker. ## HEAVY DAMAGE BY RAINS

Street Cave-ins, Cellars Flooded, Trains Held Up by Washouts in Rochester and Vicinity

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 17.—Thousands of dollars damage has been done in Rochester and vicinity by heavy rains and cloudbursts of the past 48 hours. Street cave-ins occurred in various parts of the city. Hundreds of cellars are flooded, trains on branches of the New York Central and Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh are still held up by washouts and service on both urban and interurban lines is more or less disrupted. Flood conditions also developed on the Erie canal and the Seneca river rose three feet. With the cessation of the downpour early this morning conditions were expected to improve, although the flood of water up the valley will send the river higher and the crest may not be reached until tomorrow.

Sixty feet of the Erie canal embankment near Mount Morris went out last night, causing the cancellation of train service on the Erie between that town and Rochester. The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western tracks between Mount Morris and Groveland and the Pennsylvania tracks between Mount Morris and Pittsford are under water and traffic has been abandoned. A cloudburst at Brockport caused considerable damage.

FOR MILITARY TRAINING

RECRUITS SUFFICIENT TO FORM FIVE REGIMENTS HAVE ENROLLED

NEW YORK, May 17.—Recruits sufficient to form five regiments of infantry at war strength have enrolled for the summer military training camp at Plattsburg, N. Y., it was announced today. Enlistments thus far total $405.

The first senior encampment beginning on June 5 has an enrollment of 1254 and promises to be the smallest of the series. The junior camp, beginning early in July has 1915 volunteers while the second senior camp in July has 2511.

Indications are that the senior camp to be held in August will be the largest of all, as it now has 2357 enlistments. Thus far only 624 volunteers have enrolled for the final camp in September.

MANUFACTURERS' CONVENTION

NEW YORK, May 17.—A report on the general legislative situation as affecting the industries of this country was presented to the National Association of Manufacturers in the final session of its annual convention here today. Officers of national associations of employers delivered brief addresses on the conditions prevailing in their respective trades. Election of vice-presidents and directors at large followed.

The annual banquet will be held this evening with addresses by Charles N. Kellogg, formerly secretary of commerce and labor on "Federal Incorporation," and by John Hays Hammond on "Farm-amount National Issues."

Pres. Wilson Commends Federal Trade Commission for Efforts in Improving Conditions

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Co-operation between the federal trade commission and business firms and commercial organizations with the object of standardizing trade is recommended by President Wilson in a letter to Edward N. Hurley, vice chairman of the commission, made public today at the White House. The president urges that the commission investigate industries and, if it finds any not "healthy," it suggest a "practical and helpful remedy."

The president wrote to Mr. Hurley to commend him for suggestions made in a recent speech at Boston in which Mr. Hurley told of efforts being made by the commission to assist the small manufacturer and merchant in bettering his condition by helping him improve his cost accounting and book-keeping methods.

"This is a step in the right direction and one of the main fundamentals of any successful business," said the president. "It is most important to the future success of a business man that he should know what his goods actually cost to manufacture and to sell. If he has these facts, they will enable him to present a modern balance sheet to his bank, and as a result he will be better able to obtain credit with which to expand and develop his business."

"Your suggestion that trade associations, associations of retail and wholesale merchants, commercial clubs, boards of trade, manufacturers' associations, credit associations and other similar organizations should be encouraged in every feasible way by the government, seems to me a very wise one. To furnish them with data and comprehensive information in order that they may more easily accomplish the result that they are organized for is a proper and useful government function. These associations when organized for the purpose of improving conditions in their particular industry, such as unifying cost accounting and bookkeeping methods, standardizing products and processes of manufacture, should meet with the approval of every man interested in the business progress of the country.

"Too much emphasis cannot be placed on your suggestion that materials, methods and products in industry should be standardized upon the basis of specifications drawn up in friendly co-operation with engineering societies, industrial experts and trade associations. Further standardization in our industries will not only reduce the cost of production, but assure the producer better materials and more efficient workmanship, and to the consuming public the manifest benefit resulting from not having to pay for a wide and increasing variety of products and materials. Judicious standardization also means a greater return on a given investment. Capital now tied up because of inefficient methods will be released and can be used effectively elsewhere.

If we are to be an important factor in a world's map, we must be more thorough and efficient in production. The encouragement of trade associations and standardization and the installing of better cost accounting and bookkeeping methods in our business concerns will go a long way toward accomplishing this end.

"It is my hope that, in addition to the other work which the federal trade commission is doing it will ascertain the facts regarding conditions in our various industries. If it finds that an industry is not healthy, it should, after carefully considering the facts, in co-operation with the parties interested suggest a practical and helpful remedy. In this way many of our difficult business problems might be solved.

"I am very anxious to see you continue to co-operate with the business men of the country along the lines which you are working."
